WASHINGTON COUNTY VOTERS LOUDLY APPLAUD CLARK HOWELL AS HE EXPOSES SMITH'S RECORD

eat Crowd at Sandersville To Hear Issues Discussed By Democratic Candidate.

OLD SOLDIERS PLEDGE SUPPORT TO HOWELL

Every Point Made by Speaker Was Cheered—Voters Showed Their Disapproval of the Hypocrisy and Inconsistency of Hoke Smith.

By Fred Lewis.

Sandersville, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—Clark Howell was given an ovation here today from the moment of his arrival in Sandersville, when he was met at the depot by a delegation of some twenty-five members of the Washington County Howell Club, headed by Secretary W. E. Armistead, one of the most prominent lawyers of the city. Among them were a number of well-known confederate veterans who went from Sandersville with his father, Captain Evan P. Howell, into the service of the confederacy, who were Captain Howell's friends and comrades through all the trying days of the sixties and whose friendship will outlast death itself. President B. S. Boatwright, of the Howell Club, himself a well-known veteran and a member of Captain Howell's company, wrote a letter to Secretary Armistead expressing his regret at being unable to accompany the party as the result of suffering from an old wound received in the war, and his earnest hope for Mr. Howell's success in the campaign.

Confederate Veterans for Howell.

It was half an hour before the hotel, only two blocks from the depot, was reached, so many were there to meet and shake hands with Mr. Howell on the way. This morning, until the hour for the speaking, was spent in meeting many Washington county democrats, among whom were many old soldiers who went from this county with Captain Howell into the great struggle for the south. Not a few of these told Mr. Howell they had driven in from a distance of 15 or 20 miles to meet him and hear him speak. These old veterans pledged their best efforts in the campaign to the son of the man with whom they served so long and had learned to know and love so well. Among these was Captain P. R. Taliaferro, a well-known veteran and for many years judge of the city court of Sandersville, who did not let his feeble health prevent him from turning out, and it was he who expressed great pleasure in introducing Mr. Howell to his audience.

Court was adjourned by Judge Rawlings shortly after 11 o'clock. The court room was crowded to its capacity. Conservative citizens estimated the audience at 800. More than a hundred voters stood in the aisle near the door and within the court railing during the entire hour and a half while Mr. Howell was speaking.

Washington County Claims Howell.

The outbursts of applause were frequent as the speaker pressed home some strong point. Judge Rawlings discharged the jury, but they remained in their seats to hear Mr. Howell speak.

"Four years ago from this stage I had the honor of introducing the man who was elected governor of the state of Georgia," said Captain Taliaferro, amidst applause in opening his introductory speech, "and I believe I shall have the honor today of introducing to you the man who shall serve as the successor of the present governor. (Applause and cheers.)

"We have with us today a distinguished Georgian who bares a name that is as familiar to this assemblage as a household word, for when the tocsin of war was sounded and the bloody strife began, his father, from this county, was one of the very first to respond. During the four years of that bloody strife he rendered valuable and valiant service for he was a brave soldier. It was while he was fighting his country's battles that a son was born to him, and that son has come back home today. (Applause.)

"That son was carried by his father to another county, but we only loaned him to Fulton, and now he comes back home by way of Atlanta, for we have never given up our claim upon him. (Applause.)

"You may follow his record during a long period of legislative service and you will find that he was never known to forsake or forget the man behind the plow." (Applause.)

Mr. Howell and the Primary.

Mr. Howell began to address his audience amidst applause and cheers. He spoke of the pleasure it gave him to return again to Sandersville and of the emotions which came over him as he shook the hands of the old comrades of his father. No heartier welcome had he received anywhere in the state. He spoke of the charges which his adversaries have been making against him by dealing in glittering generalities, "but not one specification have they been able to bring," he declared, "to show that I have in any way bee unworthy of the confidence which the people of Fulton

46 FOR CLARK HOWELL AND 4 FOR HOKE SMITH

Over four-fifth of the senators and representatives on the joint penitentiary committee, which met in Atlanta yesterday, expressed themselves as supporters of Clark Howell.

There were sixty members of the legislature present, including members of both houses, and of these forty-six were outspoken Howell men. Four, two senators and two representatives, were not seen. The remaining twelve were scattered.

The poll of the joint committee stood:

Clark Howell	46
Hoke Smith	4
Judge R. B. Russell	3
James M. Smith	2
Colonel Estill	1

The men who make up the joint penitentiary committee of the Georgia legislature are among the most representative citizens of the state, men of affairs and standing in their own communities, and, in many instances, through the entire state.

The chairman of the senate committee is Senator Sirmans and of the house committee Hon. John N. Holder, of Jackson. There were thirty-nine members of the house present and twenty-one members of the senate.

Subcommittees Appointed.

The session of the committee was held in the Kimball house ball room, the use of which was tendered, without cost, to the committee. The meeting was held for the purpose of appointing subcommittees to visit and inspect the various convict camps and the state, and subcommittees were appointed to make trips to every state convict camp in Georgia, including misdemeanor as well as felony camps.

These subcommittees began their work immediately after the adjournment of the committee, some of them taking trains last night to go on their tours of inspection. Their reports will be made to the main committee when the legislature meets this summer.

During the meeting General Clement A. Evans, of the prison commission, appeared before the committee and delivered an address on the present condition of the Georgia penitentiary system. He was given a cordial welcome by the legislators.

Hon. John M. Slaton, of Fulton, speaker of the house of representatives, also addressed the committee after an earnest solicitation. As he sat down Colonel Holder, chairman of the house committee, suggested that the committee request Mr. Slaton to stand for the speakership of the next house. This motion was carried unanimously amid great enthusiasm.

Hon. John T. Boifeuillet, clerk of the house, was a spectator at the committee, and he, too, was called upon for a speech, which received many rounds of applause. He was cheered to the echo.

Members of Committee.

Senate—Senator Sirmans, chairman; Steed, vice chairman; Furr, Alsobrook, Fortner, Ware, McAllister, Graybill, Rose, Steed, Parker, Peyton, Phillips, Lumsden, Wilcox, Hamby, King, Hogan, Blalock of the thirty-fifth, Westbrook and Odum.

JOURNAL MISREPRESENTED REPRESENTATIVE HOLDER

In The Atlanta Journal's report yesterday afternoon of the meeting of the subcommittee on convict camps the following paragraph appeared:

"Representative Holder, of Jackson county, chairman of the house committee, said that the committees had been given transportation by the railroads, and that the arrangements had been carried through by John T. Boifeuillet, clerk of the house, and campaign manager of Mr. Clark Howell. He wished to thank Mr. Boifeuillet for this service, and he was called on for a speech."

Representative John H. Holder last night was indignant at the paragraph, which, he stated, was a misrepresentation of what he had said.

"I made no such remark," said he, "as I am quoted in The Journal. I made no reference whatever to any candidate for governor. I merely stated to the committee that Senator Sirmans and I had procured transportation to the different points of the state where convict camps are to be inspected and that Mr. Boifeuillet had assisted us in securing transportation over some of the SHORT LINES. I stated that SENATOR SIRMANS AND I took up the matter with the MAIN LINES from which we secured transportation. We requested Mr. Boifeuillet, I told the committee, to take up the matter with the SHORT LINES, as we did not know to whom to write. We asked him to do this in his official capacity as clerk of the house of representatives. I made no reference whatever to any candidate for governor in any way whatever and the name of no candidate was in any way suggested."

CLUNG TO SPANKER BOOM WHILE ENDURING AGONY

Boston, March 6.—The wreck of the four-masted schooner Mary Manning, the details of which were learned today, when her crew arrived on the British steamer Casilda, has been exceeded in horror and hardship by no tragedy of the sea in which Boston has been concerned for many years. With their vessel stripped of her masts and sails, her hold filled and soaked with water and with the ruined hulk driven by wind and current, a mere waterlogged raft and derelict, the captain, one passenger and crew of eight men were for four days huddled upon the after house, barely subsisting on a little canned corn and water, clinging for their lives to the icy woodwork, and exposed to the seas which constantly broke over them. Finally, when the deck house was washed away, the men were forced to take refuge on the spanker boom, from which some of them dropped from sheer exhaustion when the boats of the Casilda arrived alongside, the others jumping into the boats to save their lives. Before that the mate had leaped overboard in delirium, but a Norwegian sailor, in spite of the fact that he had been injured by the shifting deck of lumber, sprang after him and effected his rescue. All of the ten individuals were in a state of collapse from suffering, hunger and exposure when taken off by the Casilda. The rescue was made 160 miles south by east of the Nantucket South Shoals lightship, and when last seen the schooner was barely afloat. She was bound from Fernandina, Fla., for New York with a cargo of railroad ties. She was a victim of a storm of unusual severity, which developed six days after she had left the southern port. She was valued at $35,000.

RUSSELL CAUSED A LAUGH TALKING OF PRIMARY LAW

Washington, March 6.—During the meeting of American Ballot Reform League today Charles R. Russell, chairman of the committee on privileges and elections of the Georgia assembly, described the action of the primary law in his state. "A nomination by the democratic party," said Mr. Russell, "is practically equivalent to election. Yet that party has passed a law to insure the purity of the ballot in the Australian system."

"I notice this is called 'white primary,'" said Andrew B. Humphreys, of the republican club of this city, "is there any provision in Georgia for the colored primary?"

"You know this is a democratic party I am telling of," replied Mr. Russell, quickly, and everybody laughed.

SHIP IN PERILOUS POSITION.

Stranded Navahoe Must Be Unloaded or Become a Wreck.

Wilmington, N. C., March 6.—The condition of the Clyde Line steamer Navahoe, which went aground between the inner and outer bars at Cape Fear Saturday last, is unchanged. The Navahoe is in a perilous position and should be unloaded soon in order to save her [illegible] total wreck. There were only two passengers aboard when she grounded and they were taken off Sunday.

GRAND JURY INDICTS BOLES.

Held for Poisoning His Wife—Second Wife in Jail.

Meridian, Miss., March 6.—(Special)—D. J. Boles, a young white man accused at Quitman of having poisoned his wife by giving her a box of poisoned sardines for a Christmas dinner, who waived preliminary examination recently, was indicted by the grand jury this morning at that place. Within a few weeks after the sudden and suspicious death of his wife, Boles married another woman who had never been legally divorced from her first husband, and she is in jail waiting trial for bigamy.

ROW IS SETTLED BY ROOSEVELT

He and Cortelyou Get Tennessee Men Together.

It Is Understood That Through the President's Efforts Clay Evans Is To Be Nominated for Governor and Brownlow To Control Patronage.

Washington, March 6.—(Special.)—President Roosevelt and Postmaster General Cortelyou have, it is understood, worked out a solution of the row between the Brownlow and Evans factions of Tennessee republicans, which has been characterized by a number of fights and the usual amount of gun play. Under this arrangement the nomination for governor is to go to H. Clay Evans without further contest, Representative Waller Brownlow withdrawing his candidate, Wright.

Brownlow is to be chairman of the convention, and will be permitted to dominate the state organization and control federal patronage.

SIX PASSENGERS ARE INJURED

Passenger Train Leaves Track Near Columbia, S. C.

Columbia, S. C., March 6.—(Special.)—Passenger train No. 9, leaving here at 7:10 this morning for Asheville, was derailed seven and a half miles south of the city at 7:45 this morning by a broken rail. Two coaches left the tracks and were more or less broken.

Six passengers were injured, but only slightly, as follows:

S. L. Seatrunk, Columbia, cut on wrist; W. S. McCreery, Asheville, left ear cut; H. P. Sigler, Batesburg, back and right shoulder bruised; R. M. Parrott, of Partot, and Baily, Columbia, contusion of right knee; W. M. Aitken, Brooklyn, N. Y., head cut and right arm and right shoulder bruised; D. E. Manna, Fairfield, right arm and right leg bruised.

Barge Burned to Water.

Atlantic City, N. J., March 6.—The barge Hamilton Fish, owned by the C. Dunham Nephew Company of New York was destroyed by fire about 4 miles off the Barnegat life saving station today. The captain and crew were taken off by the tug which had the barge in tow. The vessel was left burning and the tug proceeded on its trip.

Unanimously Elected Chairman of Congressional Campaign Committee.

PARTY HAS GOOD CHANCE TO CAPTURE THE HOUSE

Judge Griggs Was Chosen Because His Experience Made Him the Man for the Place, Which Was Not Sought by Him.

By Jos: Ohl.

Washington, March 6.—(Special.)—Judge Jim Griggs, of Georgia, was this evening unanimously elected to the chairmanship of the democratic congressional campaign committee, and upon the shoulders of this popular Georgian is thus placed the responsibility for the conduct of the democratic campaign for the capture of the next house of representatives.

Charles A. Edwards, former secretary of the committee, was elected.

All other candidates for the chairmanship withdrew from the contest several days ago upon the assurance that Judge Griggs would accept the honor and responsibility.

Honor Was Not Sought.

The committee was in session about an hour perfecting plans for the organization of the work for the campaign. This election was unsought by Judge Griggs and is therefore all the more honor.

The fact is that when it was first suggested that he serve again as chairman he positively declined. But his fellow-democrats in the house was so insistent that he finally consented.

The feeling is very strong here in Washington that the democrats have an excellent chance of carrying the house at this fall's election even in the face of the overwhelming majority the republicans now have. This feeling is by no means confined to democrats. The republican leaders acknowledge that a democratic victory is a possibility, to say the least of it.

With this outlook, therefore, democratic members of the house have been insisting that the chairmanship of the

TRAVELED ON STEAMER UNDER ASSUMED NAME

Man Who Handled Legislative Funds for "Big Three" Life Insurance Companies Says He Heard of Prosecutions and Returned.

New York, March 6.—Andrew Hamilton returned to New York today on the steamer Deutschland on which he was registered under the name of W. Milton. Mr. Hamilton was at the head of the legislative bureau of the New York Life Insurance Company and had charge of the legislative work of several of the large companies. To obtain an accounting from him of moneys alleged to have been advanced to him by the late John A. McCall as president of the New York Life, John C. McCall, secretary of the company, went to Paris recently. The accounting was asked for by the Fowler committee which is investigating the New York Life's affairs.

Commenting today on John A. McCall's death, Mr. Hamilton said he gave the former president of the New York Life vouchers for all expenditures, and that to any and all of these vouchers Mr. McCall would have given a certificate of indisputable character. He said that he registered under an assumed name on the Deutschland in order to have his return voyage free from annoyance. He said:

"What I suppose you want to know is why I have returned. Well, I heard something about criminal proceedings and here I am, this signifies that though my health is far from reestablished, I'm ready to accept any challenge implied by such proceedings.

"As to what others have said and done during my absence—and I might allude to those who live in glass houses—I will say nothing."

"You have come back to face the music," he was asked.

"Yes, discordant or otherwise."

GENERAL STAFF HAS MEN READY TO INVADE CHINA

Action of the Governing Board of the Army Criticized in the Senate.

TAFT TUGGING AT ROOT WHO SITS ON THE LID

Senator Tillman Declared the Secretary of State Has Small Chance Against His Heavier Brother, Who Heads the War Department.

Washington, March 6.—The question of the enlargement of the medical department of the army occupied the major portion of the time of the senate today.

The question arose in connection with the consideration of a bill for the displacement of contract surgeons by physicians who shall be given the rank of army officers and the reorganization of the medical corps. Mr. Hale criticised the bill as an entering wedge for a general increase of the army and said it was a part of a general plan of the general staff which he charged with a general purpose of enhancing the army's importance.

In this connection, Mr. Hale said that the general staff had prepared plans for the invasion of China by an American army, but he added that he did not mean to go into that subject, "for, with the secretary of state sitting on the lid, I do not believe we are likely to have war."

Senator Tillman in Action.

The last statement brought Mr. Tillman to his feet with the suggestion that "if the secretary of state is sitting on the lid and the secretary of war is trying to pry him off, it will go off because of the greater avoirdupois of the head of the war department."

Without entering into the jest, Mr. Hale replied that he was willing to trust the secretary of war in this matter notwithstanding he had transmitted the recommendations of the staff. He added the statement that the staff was taking upon itself the responsibility for the conduct of the war department. It was, he said, the purpose of that organization to invade China, which would be a declaration of war.

Mr. Hale, was replying to a question of Mr. Tillman, who asked how many troops had been sent to the Philippines with a view to their being sent to China, and Mr. Hale said: "I do not know how many troops have been sent there, but I think several thousand. The purpose of the general staff is that they may be used if any emergency either arises or can be made to invade China, which, of course, would be a declaration of war while congress is in session."

Messrs. Carter and Gallinger spoke in somewhat the same vein of objection as did Mr. Hale, while the bill was defended by Messrs. Warren, Blackburn and other senators. The bill was not disposed of.

Speech on Statehood Bill.

The only speech of the day on the statehood bill was made by Mr. Long, who advocated the passage of the bill as reported by the committee on territories.

Secretary Taft occupied a seat on the floor of the senate while the army bill was under consideration.

Mr. Tillman gave notice that he would endeavor to have the rate bill taken up as soon as the statehood bill was disposed of. The senate adjourned until tomorrow.

STORE AND HOTEL ON LARGE SCALE

Macon Property Holders Ask Concessions from City.

They Want Considerable Slice of a Street and Promise in Return To Erect a Great Department Store and a Hotel of Modern Proportions.

Constitution Bureau, 467 Second Street, Macon, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—Property holders on Poplar street, between Third and Fourth streets, will present to the city council a petition for the largest encroachment ever asked at the hands of the body, and promise in return an immense department store at the corner of Third and Poplar and a large hotel at the corner of Poplar and Fourth streets. The department store is to be erected by the Dannenberg company, and is to be a much larger business than any ever launched in Macon. The promotors of the hotel promise a building several stories high and more suited to the needs of the growing city than anything now in operation.

This proposed encroachment takes in 40 feet for an entire block and each side of Poplar, and will mean the granting of 80 feet to the property owners, leaving little more than 60 feet of space open along the street between the proposed buildings. Members of council have heard the proposal with a great deal of interest and have asked for considerable time in acting upon the matter. It will be handled in committee meetings, and will finally be passed upon in open council when reported back to the body.

The petition for the encroachment was to have been presented tonight, but the parties interested have withheld the request until a later date, when a strong petition will be laid before the body.

Those who favor granting the space advance the point that Macon can afford to give the lands for the two immense buildings, even if there is no other like improvements. The Dannenberg company now owns the corner lot where they propose the big department store, having recently paid $30,000 in cash for the spot. Owners who propose the big hotel seem to be acting in equally as good faith, and there is considerable talk in favor of making the grants with the condition that the two buildings be erected within a reasonable time.

Many of the leading business citizens of the Central City have urged the needs of both the hotel and the department store, and they will be anxious that council consider the proposition favorably. This, it is urged, will then leave Poplar street in as good condition as it is below Fourth street, where two large business establishments have gone up under similar conditions. The matter will be watched with great interest, and those who favor and oppose encroachment will thoroughly discuss the proposition with a view of securing the large additions to the real estate interests of Macon.

To Fight Crook Gangs.

Macon, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—Police Chief Granville Conner is planning an organization of police chiefs of the state with a view of fighting crook gangs. He is sending out a circular to all police departments in the state for the purpose of getting a meeting in the near future to perfect working plans. This proposition will carry plans of great interest to officers of the law.

The Tax on Clubs.

Macon, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—The city council settled the much agitated question as to $500 license on social clubs tonight by reducing to $50 on bona fide organizations that make application for license within the next five days. The heavy tax was favored by a member claiming that the clubs operated a barroom and should be subject to the same tax as paid by city bars. This action favors the Elks, Cherokee, Progress and other clubs of similar character.

county have reposed in me for the past eighteen years." (Applause.)

"Those who have come back to the democratic party and those who are going to come back as loyal democrats," Mr. Howell said, "have just as much right as you or I to participate in the democratic primary. That is where I stand, any anything else which anyone tells you is another of these gross misrepresentations which you have heard from day to day." (Applause.)

Mr. Howell discussed disfranchisement along the usual lines and much laughter was evoked by his exposing Hoke Smith's inconsistent attitude on this subject. He showed how the proposed legislation would disfranchise many white citizens in Georgia who have never had opportunity to acquire a neducation.

Smith Would Disfranchise Whites.

"There are twenty-five old men in my neighborhood who can't sign their names," came a voice from the audience. It was Dr. R. G. Stone, of Hancock county.

"Yes, and every one of them will be debarred from voting if this measure becomes a law," Mr. Howell said, amidst applause.

Mr. Howell exposed the fraud in the proposition of enforcing such a law through registers and election managers who would qualify uneducated white men and turn down educated negroes. Such a proposition as this, he declared, indorsed fraud and perjury and endangers the whole basic fabric of our civilization.

Amid laughter and cheers, he told the story of Tom Watson's Texas experience when Mr. Watson said of a negro woman he found in the hotel. "She was the blackest negro I have ever seen since those appointments in Mr. Cleveland's second administration."

Among these negro appointments of Secretary Smith was that of John P. Turner, son of Bishop H. M. Turner, who indorsed Mr. Smith to the Cleveland cabinet. John P. Turner was paid a salary and expenses of $2,000 a year "to examine pension applicants."

"They were northern pensioners, weren't they?" came a voice from the audience.

Hoke's Negro Examined Southern Veterans.

"Many of them may have been," Mr. Howell replied. "I know we never got much of the money down here, but I do know that John P. Turner was stationed at Knoxville, in a southern state, and I do know that I met on the streets of Atlanta an aged man who was a veteran of the Mexican war. That old soldier was from Coweta county, in this state, and when such men as he put in their application for pensions they had to go before John P. Turner. (Loud applause and cheers.)

"This is getting interesting," Mr. Howell continued, "and if you've got any more questions, just pop out and I will be glad to answer to the best of my ability."

In discussing disfranchisement, Mr. Howell spoke of the fact that the people of Washington county were perhaps most familiar with the subject since it was Representative Hardwick, of this county, and now Congressman Hardwick, who was the father of this movement in Georgia. Mr. Howell said he admired Congressman Hardwick; that he was a hard fighter, one who never hits below the belt and one who stands for the courage of his convictions, and did not have to change his mind to secure political preferment.

While Mr. Howell was discussing the railroad question, speaking of his efforts in behalf of the Glenn tax bill and the franchise tax bill, a voice in the audience said: "They call you a railroad man, don't they?"

"Yes, Mr. Smith calls me the railroad man," he replied, "but those who know me don't. They know better." (Applause.)

What Atlanta Thinks of Smith.

Mr. Howell's statement that if in a primary held in the county in which both he and Mr. Smith live, he did not carry three-fourths of the bar, Mr. Smith's own ward, the city of Atlanta and Fulton county, he would get out of the race for governor, was greeted with applause and cheers.

"Let Mr. Smith try that at an early primary in Fulton," said Mr. Howell; "but mark you, he will never do it."

Mr. Howell read the letter of Editor James R. Gray, of The Atlanta Journal, written January 31, 1905, showing at that time it was Mr. Gray's indicated intention to support him for governor. Mr. Howell referred to the fact that he had made the statement in his speech at Calhoun. Following which, Mr. Gray, in a two-column editorial, had charged him with attacking The Journal.

"I made no attack upon him nor upon The Journal," Mr. Howell said. "I just read his own words. It was he who was attacking himself. I merely stated the facts to show that this editor who is now attacking me in the interest of Mr. Smith considered me good enough a year ago, at a time when my record had been made and was before the people."

Mr. Howell told of Mr. Smith's railroad record, amidst considerable laughter, referring to his employment as counsel in fighting the competitive clause of the state constitution, the use of private cars and passes while secretary of the interior, his borrowing money in Wall street from railroad interests and his congratulations to President Spencer, of the Southern, for "purifying the politics of Georgia."

Are Railroads Backing Smith?

"Why, he's got a railroad record," Mr. Howell said, "that would lay that of Hamp McWhorter in the shade. The only difference is that McWhorter has been consistent, while Smith has been at various times on both sides of the question. (Laughter and applause.)

"When he and I had a joint debate over in Columbus, who was selected to represent him? Why it was Louis F. Garrard, a good man, but attorney for a railroad that is owned by the Southern.

"Why, I wouldn't be surprised if the railroads are back of him today. They've got far more reason to be than they have to be back of me, because they have reached out for him and got him whenever they needed him. (Applause.)

"He's been on both sides of every plank in this platform. He has never been consistent from the day he was born.

He Even Changed His Name.

"He used to be Michael Hoke Smith, but he even changed his name, and dropped the Mike." (Laughter and applause.)

Almost half the audience remained to congratulate and shake hands with Mr. Howell at the conclusion of his address, among them many of the old confederate veterans, who gathered around him and pledged him their earnest support.

"We'll carry the county for you if we have to take off our coats and walk all over it to do it," they said.

JUDGE RUSSELL AT ALPHARETTA

Says He Looks to Common People for Election.

Alpharetta, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—Judge Richard B. Russell spoke here today. He was introduced by Colonel J. B. Brooke, one of the most popular attorneys in this section of the state.

Judge Russell put forward in a specific manner how the taxes of the state can be reduced and in commenting upon the child labor bill, advocating its adoption, said that such a law would bring great happiness to the homes of Georgia and would serve to enable the children of the state to be educatted.

Judge Russell, with great eloquence, said: "I belong to no ring or great newspaper, but to the common people of Georgia, and it is to them that I am looking for my election of governor."

Judge Russell left here shortly after his address for Habersham county, where he is scheduled to make three speeches in that county on Wednesday.

DANIELSVILLE HEARS SMITH

His Speech Was About the Same as His Previous Ones.

Danielsville, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—Hoke Smith addressed the people of Madison county here during the recess of court today.

His remarks were about the same as those made at other places during the campaign.

Commissioner Merritt To Speak.

Dublin, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—State School Commissioner W. B. Merritt has consented to deliver the literary address at the closing of the spring term of the Dublin public schools. He is a forceful and entertaining speaker, and it is believed that his address will be well received.

LEAVE TODAY FOR GEORGIA

River and Harbor Committee Starts on Trip This Morning.

Washington, March 6.—The special party of members of the house committees on rivers and harbors, and interstate and foreign commerce, which is to investigate rivers and harbors in Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi, will leave Washington tomorrow morning at 10:50 in a special car on the Southern railway. The party will consist of Representatives Hepburn, Mann, Adamson, Richardson (Ala.), Dovener, Bishop, Acheson, Alexander, Davidson, McLachlen, Lorimer, Jones (Wash.), Bede, Ellis, Lester, Sparkman, Ransdell, Burgess and Humphreys. Chairman Burton of the rivers and harbors committee will be unable to accompany the party from Washington, but hopes to join it before the return.

MAY WALK OUT ON SOUTHERN

Strike Threatened by Telegraphers Unless Their Demands Are Met.

Washington, March 6.—President Perham, of the Order of Railway Telegraphers of the United States and Canada, announced tonight that unless the wage scale submitted to the Southern Railway officials is accepted by Friday, 1,265 telegraph operators and agents out of 1,573 employed by the road, will be called out. "The demands," he said, "are for a minimum scale for operators and agents of $50 per month and a maximum of $85 a month. The scale in effect at present fixes the minimum of operators at $30 and the agents $25 a month.

"The committee of fifteen representing the operators have had repeated conferences with General Manager Spencer and General Superintendent McManus."

The officials have treated the representatives of the union fairly and courteously, although they have persistently evaded this issue.

Mr. Perham added that no strike will be called until the committee representing the operators has made a final appeal to President Spencer of the Southern.

THE PASSING THRONG.

Jack Powell, for eleven years editor and owner of The Blakely Reporter, and a well-known figure in Georgia journalism for the past twenty-three years was in Atlanta yesterday purchasing an outfit for a new weekly newspaper he is soon to start in Fort Gaines.

Mr. Powell is well known among all the members of the Georgia weekly press as a capable and popular newspaper man, and it is but natural that they should give him a hearty welcome on his return to the ranks of the weekly quill pushers.

Before going to Blakely he ran a paper at Fort Valley, in Houston county; was then an editor in Early county for eleven years and now goes back to the same section to begin the publication of his new paper at Fort Gaines, in Clay. He has during recent months been connected with The Marietta Journal.

In his new venture he will be associated with E. R. Shaw, a prominent and influential citizen of Fort Gaines.

"Now that Ed Blodgett's appointment has been confirmed, I feel safe in saying that the Atlanta postoffice will make a finer showing next year than it has ever presented in its history," remarked one of the leading business men of the city. "I have been a resident of Atlanta almost since its first creation and during that time I have seen many postmasters come and go. But, I say frankly that Ed Blodgett is one of the few postmasters, if not the only one, I have ever known who worked his office just as though there was another postoffice in the city running in opposition. Just as the grocer, the shoe merchant or the dry goods merchant appreciates a rival and works to get the best of that rival, so has Ed Blodgett worked the Atlanta postofice, not that he feared opposition, but that he might give the people the very best possible results. Closely and carefully he has watched the business entrusted to his care and at every point where a weakness has been shown he has been quick to correct that weakness until now the Atlanta postoffice stands high up in the national service. And yet there has never been any brass band procession in which he has figured. One of the best indexes—write it down as indices, if you wish—of a town is the postoffice. An increase in postal work naturally means a growth in business, maybe a growth in population and not even a national census is more reliable."

E. G. Woodward, of Chicago, traveling passenger agent of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway, was among the guests at the Kimball yesterday.

Fred C. Nash, cartoonist of The Detroit Free Press, who was in Atlanta Sunday last and who disappeared that afternoon with the Detroit ball team, now in Augusta, has quite a batch of mail at the Kimball awaiting his return to the city the latter part of the present week. Cartoonist Nash has made a reputation for himself throughout the country and is known wherever The Free Press is read.

George T. O'Haver, chief of police; Robert E. Moran, city electrician, and Thomas H. Jackson, city attorney, of Memphis, were in the city yesterday stopping at the Kimball, the guests of Chief Jennings and City Attorney Mayson. The Bluff City officials are touring the southern cities inspecting the different lines of municipal work in which they are engaged. They were entertained at an informal dinner yesterday afternoon by the Atlanta officials named.

Will Dye Prison Garb.

Macon, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—The general alarm caused in certain military quarters regarding city prisoners wearing apparel in imitation of the khaki suit of the Second Georgia regiment was quelled, and general satisfaction proclaimed when the city council promised to have the 9-ounce yellow overalls of the street force dyed blue or black or red, to suit the complaining parties. It was urged that the uniform of the military had been infringed on by that provided by the city authorities.

SUSAN ANTHONY CLOSE TO DEATH

Famous Advocate of Ballot for Women Seriously Ill.

Rochester, N. Y., March 6.—Miss Susan B. Anthony is seriously ill at her home of pneumonia, which developed on her return from her recent visit to Washington. She is 86 years years old. For a long time Miss Anthony has not been in robust health. Her heart action is not normal and she has suffered lately much from neuralgia.

She has been ill since she returned from the national suffrage convention in Baltimore last month. She contracted a cold which aggrevated her neuralgia and soon afterward pneumonia set in. She has been under the care of her physician, a woman, Mrs. Marsena Sherman-Ricker, for more than two weeks.

Dr. Charles S. Summer was called in consultation on Miss Susan B. Anthony this afternoon. The physicians announced later that the patient showed a slight improvement.

Miss Anthony resides with her sister, Miss Mary H. Anthony, in a small frame house at No. 17 Madison street in this city, a home provided for her years ago by devoted friends.

Miss Susan B. Anthony occupies her time when well with a large amount of correspondence. She is a persistent reader of newspapers, the drift of events the world over interesting her constantly. She has many callers, persons from all over the world. She is deeply appreciative of the homage paid to her in later years in contrast to the calumny of other days.

CHARLES HEINZ VERY ILL.

Pioneer Citizen Is At the Point of Death After Long Illness.

Charles Heinz, an Atlanta pioneer, known by all the older Atlantans, is at the point of death at his home, 233 Whitehall street and because of his advanced age and long illness little hope of his recovery is felt by his attending physician, Dr. Thomas D. Love, or the members of his family.

Now in the eighty-first year of his life Mr. Heinz, though always an active, energetic man, has been ill for several months. Up to the fall of last year he was a well known figure upon the streets of Atlanta and among the leading commercial men of the city. The latter part of the past summer he was taken ill and for some time remained at his home, the members of his family not being apprehensive because of his remarkable constitution. Early in the winter, however, he began to grow worse and for weeks his death was daily expected. But so great were his recuperative powers that once again he came from his sick room and for many weeks was able to be driven to his place of business on Alabama street, where he remained for several hours each day, receiving his friends. Three weeks ago, however, Mr. Heinz began to show signs of weakening and since that time has not been able to leave his home.

At an early hour this morning his condition was considered extremely critical, the members of his family having abandoned all hopes of his recovery.

MARGARET SAUER IS INDICTED

Charged with Working Silkworm Swindle in Texas.

San Antonio, Tex., March 6.—Several indictments against Mrs. Margaret Sauer, who is known in Los Angeles as Mrs. Margaret Graham, have been filed away in the Bexar county court house for the past eight years. She is charged with swindling. It is alleged that she represented herself as the agent of a big firm who intended to introduce silk worms into Texas and many of the most prominent and wealthy citizens subscribed liberally to her plan which seemed to promise a fortune to all who invested. She disappeared suddenly after having secured about $20,000 and the silk worms never arrived.

Papers from Governor Lanham are now on the way to Governor Pardee, of California, to clear up the matter so Sheriff Tobin may bring back his prisoner.

King Leaves Paris.

Paris, March 6.—King Edward left today for Biarritz, whence he will go to San Sebastian to participate in the formalities of King Alfonso's betrothal. A crowd cheered the king as he departed.

Negroes Have Fatal Fight.

Covington, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—In an altercation over a game of cards John Avery shot and killed Ed Weaver, both negroes, in Rocky Plains district, in the western section of the county, Monday night. Deputy Sheriff Tom Maddox went with his dogs to the scene of the killing early this morning, but so far has not succeeded in apprehending the slayer.

R. M. Rakestraw Ill.

Covington, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—R. M. Rakestraw, one of the oldest and best-known citizens of Newton county, is lying critically ill at the home of Fletcher Biggers several miles west of the city. Owing to Mr. Rakestraw's age, he being in his 81st year, there is little hope for his recovery. Policeman R. A. Rakestraw, of Atlanta, is a son of the sick man, and he has been called to the bedside of his father.

How to Fool a Lazy Liver with Artificial Exercise

EVERY serious Sickness has a small beginning.

And, in nine cases out of ten that small beginning is made in the Bowels.

Indigestion is the beginning of most diseases.

It paves the way for all others.

Lack of exercise, hasty eating, improper food, are its first causes.

Laziness, and postponement, permits it to grow into Chronic Constipation, which means life-long Discomfort.

It isn't necessary to be sick-a-bed, you know, in order to be mighty uncomfortable.

Even slight indigestion affects the nerves, dulls the mind, and obscures the merry sunshine of Life.

It does that long before it puts you on the Sick list.

Every thinking Doctor knows why.

* * *

Professor Rand knew it.

That's why he framed up for students his famous formula for Happiness, viz.: "Trust in God, and keep your Bowels open."

The Bowels need adjustment from time to time, just like a clock, or a watch.

No "Good time" is humanly possible without this.

And, the time to adjust the watch is not when it has run down, nor when the main spring is broken, but at the very minute adjustment is discovered necessary.

The time to adjust the Bowels is not merely when your Head Aches, when your Liver is Sick, your Stomach in Revolt, and Nature's Food Process retarded for 24 hours or longer.

The proper time to adjust them is the very minute you suspect they need adjustment.

—If your tongue is slightly coated,

—If your breath is under suspicion,

—If your Head feels a trifle heavy or dull,

—If digestion seems even a little slow,

—If Heartburn, Belching, Colic or Restlessness begin to show themselves,

—That's the time to eat a Cascaret.

* * *

Don't imagine the Cascaret is ineffective because it is pleasant to eat as Candy.

It acts as pleasantly as it tastes. It is as congenial to your Bowels as it is to your Palate.

It is not a "Bile-driver" which floods out your stomach today with fluid juices needed for tomorrow.

But, it acts like Exercise, instead.

It stimulates the muscular lining of the Bowels and Intestines, so that they mechanically digest food and drive out the waste.

* * *

The time to use a Cascaret is when you first suspect you need one.

The only way to have them ready to use precisely when you need them is to carry them constantly in your pocket, as you do a Watch or a Lead pencil.

The ten cent box of Cascarets is made thin, flat, round-edged, and small, for this precise purpose.

Be very careful to get the genuine, made only by the Sterling Remedy Company and never sold in bulk. Every tablet stamped "CCC."

Cadets May Camp in Macon.

Macon, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—Major Walter Harris is in receipt of letters from Dahlonega, Milledgeville and Barnesville stating that the young cadets will be pleased with the plan to hold the annual encampment at Central City park, in this city. It is now believed that all the schools in the Georgia battalion will agree to come to this point during the latter part of May. Should Macon be selected, Major Harris and more than a dozen other leading men of the Second Georgia regiment will make every effort to assure success.

Dinners and Smokers Planned.

Macon, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—At the meeting of the Macon chamber of commerce today plans were put on foot for semi-annual dinners to be given in the interest of the industrial and commercial men and a series of smokers with a similar purpose are to be given by this body. Great interest is to be shown in the welfare of all industries proposed, and these dinners and smokers will be given with a view of getting the leading business men of Macon together to discuss all matters affecting any interest to the advantage of this city. President Small, Secretary Anderson and the members of the body have adopted this method of arousing enthusiasm, and it has already proven highly beneficial.

Schwab Hurries to New York.

El Paso, Tex., March 6.—Accompanied by a party of eighteen persons, Charles M. Schwab, the steel magnate, arrived in El Paso in a private car tonight. It was stated that Mr. Schwab intended going to Mexico, but being ill, he hurried on to New York from El Paso over the Rock Island.

GRIGGS TO LEAD DEMOCRATIC PARTY

campaign committee should not be merely a matter of personal favoritism, but that the man best qualified for leadership should be chosen.

They regard Judge Griggs the man because of the experience he has had in this same position.

Has Made Good Record.

In the campaign of 1902 the congressional committee, under the leadership of Judge Griggs, put up a far better contest than seemed possible under the circumstances, and democrats have always believed the party would have been victorious had it not been for the prominent part President Roosevelt took at just the crucial time in bringing about a settlement of the coal strike.

Judge Griggs succeeded in getting together a very considerable campaign fund for that campaign, and the committee was in better shape than it has been at any time in recent years.

While Judge Griggs is one of the most popular men in congress, his selection to the chairmanship this year is due to the general belief that his qualifications make him better fitted to carry on this campaign than is any other man in the party.

Mr. Griggs made the following statement concerning his election:

"There has been much guessing of late as to the meaning of my election as chairman. This generous expression of your confidence in me means nothing but that you want me to conduct this campaign, and I consented to do it. My election means nohing but a fight all along the line for a democratic house of representatives. It bears no relations to the political fortunes of any one or the success of any faction. Let us every one turn in now and make the best fight in us until next November."

Negro School Inspected.

Macon, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—Dr. Henry C. Minton, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Trenton, N. J.; Dr. P. E. Zartman and wife, of New York; H. C. Gara and W. H. Scott, of Philadelphia, and Dr. James M. Gray, wife and niece, of Chicago, are here today on a visit to a negro manual training school established in Albany by Joseph W. Hailey, colored, pastor of Washington Avenue Presbyterian church here. They are viewing conditions with a view of assisting the negroes in this enterprise.

THE COURT ADMITS EVIDENCE OF DEAD

Judge Speer So Rules in Green-Gaynor Case.

Court Declared That if the Defendants Had Not Absented Themselves from Its Jurisdiction the Dead Men Could Have Been Present.

Savannah, Ga., March 6.—This was the day that District Attorney Erwin thought at the end of last week might bring the conclusion of the government's direct testimony against Greene and Gaynor, but when the federal court adjourned the close of the government's case did not appear much nearer than it did Saturday. he two days had been consumed either i nargument or the reading of testimony of deceased witnesses. That of two or three more, now deceased, at the commissioner's hearing in New York, is yet to be read and thereafter Mr. Erwin will put two more witnesses at least o nthe stand. One will be National Bank Examiner Johnson, who will reduce to as simple a statement as possible for the benefit of the pury, the many bank accounts and transactions that have been presented by the government.

Today was largely consumed in the reading of evidence given by W. H. Venable, Thomas J. Agnew and Charles Van Deventer, all since deceased and the interposing and answering of objections offered to certain portions of their testimony.

On convening court today in the Greene and Gaynor trial Judge Speer rendered his decision admitting the testimony given before Commissioner Shields in New York by witnesses now deceased whe nthe removal of the defendants from that jurisidiction to the jurisdiction of this court was sought.

Judge Speer said:

"The witnesses all died during that period in which the accused had absented themselves from the jurisdiction of the court and while the government was restoring to judicial proceedings to secure their return from Canada. Had the case been brought to trial at the time when it was originally assigned, all then were in life and might have testified. The contention of counsel for the defense is utterly inconsistent with the exeigencies of society and reduced to its last analysis might even exclude from the trial the dying declarations of the innocent victims of unprovoked and secret murder or unnamable outrage."

General Thomas P. Farr read the testimony of the deceased witnesses, that of Thomas J. Agnew being first. Agnew testified as to the trouble he had experienced in securing specifications of the Cumberland Sound contract and finally, he said, he had to resort to his family physician and get him to make application for the specifications. Edward H. and John Gaynor, he said, had offered him $500 not to bid. When he would not accept, Edward H. Gaynor at the last moment picked up from Carter's desk one bid and substituted another therefor. When the bids were read they did not contain the names of the Gaynors as bidders.

Says Name on Bid Was Forged.

The bid submitted by Gaynor, District Attorney Erwin contended "was prepared by M. A. Connolly, Carter's secretary, who forged the name of Anson M. Bangs, who was awarded the contract."

his bid, it was held, was kept in readiness to meet the emergencies demanded should Agnew persist in his determination to bid. The price bid for mattresses, Agnew had said, was about one-half what Greene and Gaynor had previously bid, the eleventh hour having made the reduction.

The testimony of the late W. H. Venable of Atlanta, showed how Carter had endeavored to "chill" Venable's determination to bid on the Cumberland Sound work. John F. Gaynor, he said, had tried to make him turn over his specifications, Gaynor telling him he (Gaynor) ha dthe others, whereupon Veneable told Gaynor he would not be a party to any conspiracy. Gaynor, he said, told him he had two sets of bids. One was $200,000 lower than the other and it was the low one he proposed putting in in the event an unexpected bidder should appear.

This Gaynor said he had often done.

The testimony of the late Charles Van Deventer, a New York bond broker, was read, showing his purchases of railroad bonds for O. M. Carter. This had not been concluded when the court adjourned until tomorrow.

WAITE TO HOLD PRESENT PLACE

Will Be Allowed to Continue Postmaster at Eastman.

Washington, March 6.—(Special.)—President Roosevelt has withdrawn from the senate the nomination of John W. Bohannon, to be postmaster at Eastman.

The reason for this is that while the nomination has been pending in the senate the news of Mr. Bohannon's death has been received by the postoffice authorities.

Mr. Bohannon was named as successor to the present postmaster, Mr. Waite, because of the report of an inspector showing a shortage of the assistant postmaster.

This report showed, however, that Mr. Waite was in no way to blame. Despite this, a successor was named. Congressman Brantley and Senator Clay sought to have this action rescinded, but it was decided by the department this could not be done since the president had made another nomination. In view of the death of the appointee, however, Postmaster General Cortelyou has decided that Mr. Waite will be permitted to serve out his term.

One Killed in Collapse.

Pueblo, Colo., March 6.—By the collapse of the concrete roof over a section of the huge new round house of the Denver and Rio Grande railroad, which is in course of construction here, this afternoon, one man was instantly killed and three others were badly injured. The roof had just been completed, and the men who are all carpenters, were removing the false work underneath, which is supposed to have weakened it, causing the collapse.

Wiley the Only Candidate.

Montgomery, Ala., March 6.—(Special.) Congressman A. A. Wiley will be the only candidate before the democratic primary in the second district, Thomas J. Hall, who was expected to qualify, did not do so. He tried to get the day changed to later than March 19, but failed. It will be held with the county primary.

BIBLE SESSIONS BEGIN THURSDAY

Attractive and Elaborate Programme Arranged.

Musical Feature of Opening Night Will Be Great Chorus of Children Under Direction of Professor Davis.

The Tabernacle Bible conference, which promises to be the biggest and best ever ments have been made, however, to held, opens its 1906 session on Thursday night. A most elaborate and attractive programme has been arranged, and it is probable that difficulty will be experienced in seating the crowds. Arrangements have been made, hhowever, to throw the whole of the Tabernacle building into one auditorium which will give a seating capacity approximating 5,000 people.

The musical feature of the opening night will be a grand chorus of children's voices under the direction of Professor B. C. Davis. For some months these children have been in training, and at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night they will march 200 strong into the spacious choir loft of the Tabernacle church.

Those who have heard them sing at the practices say that Atlanta has never had such a treat in store as will come from the rendition of the specially selected gospel songs by the little people gathered from the various public schools.

Professor Davis has spent much time in preparation of this feature of the first night's musical programme and promises that it will be a surprise even to those who are anticipating much from the little folks. It is an undertaking unique in its line and never before tried on so extensive and elaborate a scale.

Butler Will Sing.

In addition to them it is expected that Charles Butler, of the Mount Hermon male quartet, will be on hand to render several solos. Mr. Butler needs no introduction to an Atlanta audience, as he has charmed them with his singing at several times on different occasions, and his work last year at the conference in connection with that of his colleagues was the best the conference has ever had.

The main feature of the first night will be the address by Marshall A. Hudson, the leader and founder of the Baraca and Philatea movements for young men and young women in this country and throughout the world. Mr. Hudson possesses a most winsome and striking personality and is an exceedingly eloquent talker.

He will devote his entire time to an exposition in detail of the history of now one of the most world famous movements for young people started by any one man.' There was only a few years ago but one Baraca class in all the world, and Mr. Hudson was its head and founder. Today Baraca classes are scattered everywhere throughout the world, and more are being added each week.

The great popularity of the Baraca movement for young men caused pressure to be brought to bear upon Mr. Hudson to start a movement for young girls and women. He did so in the Philatea class for young women. This, also though a very recent movement, is spreading equally as rapidly as is the Baraca.

Mr. Hudson proposes to go into all the interesting and attractive details of the movements and tell how and why they have come into existence and how it is possible to get the most good out of them.

Chadwick Inspected.

Dr. Samuel Chadwick, of Leeds, England, the star feature of the conference this year, is daily expected to arrive, and will begin his work the moment he reaches the city. He is one of the most masterful theologians of the age, and stands probably at the head of the list of the world's greatest and deepest Bible scholars.

His personality is marked more by its depth of vigor than by its polish, and his addresses are more scholarly than they are eloquent. He is noted for his work in digging out new and striking Scripture truths, and is in every sense of the word a pioneer in the line of religious thought.

HASTY IS FOUND GUILTY OF MUDER

Life Sentence in Penitentiary Was Imposed.

Jury at Gaffney Decides That the Slayer of Davidson and Bennett, Members of the "Nothing but Money" Company, Must Suffer for It.

Raleigh, N. C., March 6.—The jury in the Hasty case at Gaffney, S. C., returned a verdict of guilty at 6:15 o'clock this morning. The prisoner was recommended to the mercy of the court. Hasty was tried for the murder of Milan Bennett and Abbott Davidson, members of the "Nothing but Money" company.

GEORGE HASTY,

Convicted of Murder and Given Life Sentence for Killing Davidson and Bennett, Actors.

The killing of Bennett and Davidson occurred on the morning of December 15 last in the Piedmont hotel at Gaffney, S. C., of which George Hasty was proprietor. The theatrical company appeared at the opera house of Gaffney on the night of December 14, and after returning to the hotel Miss May Bishop and Miss Verne Sheridan, two actresses, complained to Davidson about the attempt of Hasty to enter their rooms. The following morning Davidson went to the proprietor to demand an apology. A fight ensued in which both actors were shot and killed. Hasty's plea was selfdefense.

At the trial Hasty answered to the joint indictment and pleaded not guilty. The jury took the case last night at 7 o'clock. Hasty was sentenced to the penitentiary for life, but it was announced that counsel would appeal to the supreme court.

TO ESTABLISH RURAL ROUTES

Col. Livingston Has Service Extended in Several Counties.

Washington, March 6.—(Special.)—Colonel Livingston was notified today that full county rural delivery service is to be installed in DeKalb, Walton and Rockdale. He will follow this up at once in the counties of Douglas, Campbell and Clayton, the department having given him assurance it will reach these counties as soon as possible.

Coweta Primary April 8.

Newnan, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the county democratic executive committee this morning a primary election was called for Saturday, April 28, for the nomination of two representatives, all county officers and a new executive committee. The following resolution was adopted prescribing the qualifications of voters, to-wit:

"Resolved, That all white democratic registered voters who have registered during the year 1906, and whose names appear on the list of registered voters, up ton and including Saturday, April 21, 1906, and who have paid all state and county taxes prior to 1906, and who are qualified, shall be entitled to participate in said primary; provided, that all white voters otherwise qualified who will, if their right to participate in said primary be challenged, shall promise to support the nominees, are entitled to vote therein."

Thus far there are but two candidates announced for the legislature, Hon. I. N. Orr, who offers for reelection, and Hon. M. H. Couch, of Senoia.

COUNCIL TO HOLD LIVELY SESSION

Civil Service and Viaduct Bids Will Both Cause Debates.

Board of Water Commissioners Will Present Communication Recommending Purchase of Duplicate Main from River to Casey's Hill.

Civil service, the viaduct bids, the water works question and the election of police commissioners will be the features of the session of the general council at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The meeting is that one which began last Monday and which was adjourned as a mark of respect to the memory of Major Livingston Mims.

The police commissioners to be elected are Captain James W. English and John J. Woodside. They will commence serving terms of three years. They will succeed Dr. Amos Fox and George E. Johnson.

The water works matter relates to the purchase of a duplicate main from the Chattahoochee pumping station to the top of Casey's hill, distance of 5,500 feet, thereby increasing the pumpage from the river to the reservoir by one-third. This can be done at a cost of a little more than $50,000. The cost of the pipe will be about $37,000, for which a note can be given to the United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry Company, payable January 25, 1907.

The water board recommends that the pipe be purchased and laid and the and the recommendation of the board will be before council for action this afternoon.

The action of the board of police commissioners in instituting civil service at this time, when the charter provides that t cannot be establshed until April 2, 1907, unless the officers and men resign, will be made the subject of a resolution during the session of the general council this afternoon.

The resolution will be introduced by Councilman Howard Pattillo, of the second ward. It deals somewhat vigorously with the situation.

Text of the Resolutions.

The text of the resolution follows:

"Whereas, the general council heretofore adopted an ordinance carrying into effect the authority vested in them to inaugurate what is known as the civil service plan in the department of police, and were duly advised by the city attorney that this plan could not legally be undertaken unless the chief, officers and men resigned, and that this phase should be taken literally and that the board of police commissioners would not be authorized to undertake to put the said department under said ordinance unless the chief, officers and men did resign and

"Whereas, the board of police commissioners, in the face of the opinion above given and the approval thereof by the general council in striking from the original ordinance all language seeming to give present effect to said ordinance without such resignations, and

"Whereas, the action of said board is subversive to discipline, tends to demoralize said force, is in direct opposition with the advice of general council and the action of the general council passed thereon; therefore be it

"Resolved by the mayor and general council as follows:

"1. That we deem the action of the board of police commissioners is endeavoring to carry said ordinance into effect without the resignations of the force, as required thereby.

"2. Resolved, That we hereby notify said board and the force who unwittingly were led to adopt that suggestion, that said action was illegal, unwarranted and reckless.

"3. That said board acted in wanton disregard of the action of council advised as aforesaid, and with apparent intention to involve the city in law suits and disputes, in order to preserve the force as now preserved prior to a change in the personnel thereof. The council regards the action of said board as an effort to keep in office some of their preferences, because they feared their successors would not indorse their choice and these preferences might be removed or substituted."

Adebate of considerable interest will doubtless be precipitated by the presentation of the report of the bridge committee, of which Alderman Halland is chairman, recommended that the bid of the Oliver company, of Nashville, for the construction of the Washington street viaduct, be accepted.

Two protests have been made against the awarding of the contract to the Oliver company, one by Grant Wilkins, the lowest reasonsC-WAJh rents het est of Atlanta, who contends that he was the lowest bidder upon a portion of the work, and the other by the Southern States Reinforced Concrete Company, whose agent alleges that the Washington street viaduct will not be safely constructed under the Oliver company.

Many councilmen will be heard from when the report of the committee is presented.

The following communication regarding the matter was received by The Constitution last night:

"Editor of The Constitution: As it is or should be a matter of public interest that this city enter into no contract for an unsafe viaduct permit me a few words additionall in reply to Mr. Burk's letter, of March 5.

"He has stated that he left with the city engineer a little pamphlet giving the method of calculations followed in his design and Captain Clayton states this is a catalogue published by the St. Louis Expanded Metal Fireproofing Company.

"I have a copy of this, and a close inspection fails to show any photographic reproductions of structures attributed to either Mr. Burk as engineer, or the Oliver company as contractors. I would also state that if the methods of calculations advocated in this pamphlet are applied to the Oliver company's forty-foot girder, the results will show that it has a factor of safety of less than one.

"I will add that the design we submitted was checked by the engineering department of this same company, whose catalogue Mr. Burk has submitted, and while it provides a good safe bridge, it is no more so than the requirements of the city.

"I will compare the sizes of the two plans for the same girder, first calling attention to the fact that Oliver design should be 40 per cent stronger than ours, for the reason that the distance between bents is forty per cent more in their case. Their girder is, according to my notes, 56 inches deep by 20 inches wide with about seven square inches of steel for tensile reinforcement. Our girder is 84 by 24 inches, with nearly twenty-two inches of steel reinforcement. We know our design has the approval of the St. Louis Expanded Metal Company, and we feel very sure they would not want their steel used in as weak a design as the one criticised.

"I do not ask the public or the city council to accept my unsupported statements. It would be foolish to make such contentions without feeling quite sure and I have honestly given my opinion based upon the calculations I have made, and have no doubt, if the matter were referred to competent reinforced concrete engineers, my contentions would be sustained. In respect to the necessity of going outside of the city's engineering department, it could be said there are few city engineers who have the leisure to devote themselves to a speciality of this nature, and I am very sure Captain Clayton has never claimed to be one of these. It is no slight as to his ability, to give him the assistance of such expert advice, for it is but following the safe and conservative practice of nearly all large corporations.

"Is it not best to be first sure we are right an dthen go ahead, in the matter of letting this contract?

"A. F. WALKER, Engineer.

"Southern States Reinforced Concrete Company."

STUDENTS SWARM IN NEGRO SCHOOL

A Three Hundred Per Cent Increase Is Shown.

In Dublin, Where Whites Outnumbered the Blacks Two to One, There Are Very Few More White Than Negro Children Attending Schools.

Dublin, Ga., March 6—(Special.)—Since the last spring term of the public schools of this city there has been an increase of between two and three hundred per cent in the attendance at the negro schools.

In any one year there have not been more than 125 negro pupils to matriculate in this city. There have already matriculated this year in Dublin 198 negro pupils. In addition to this, there are 110 pupils in attendance at the Dublin Normal and Industrial school, a new institution which commenced January 2, and there are about 100 negroes attending the Taylor Street school, an institution located just outside the city limits. This school is under the supervision of the county school board. Including this school there are more than four hundred negro children in school in a territory embraced in that part of this section not more than 1 1-2 miles from the center of Dublin. Last year not more than half this number were in school in the same section.

Although the whites in this section outnumber the negroes two to one, there are very few more white children in school in Dublin than negroes. In the two white schools of the city there are but 589 pupils enrolled.

DEATH BY INDIGESTION.

A Long Train of Fatal Ills Is the Direct Result of Undigested Food.

Undigested food, by fermenting, forms a poison in the stomach and this is absorbed in the blood. If this goes on very long, and your heart happens to be weak you'll be found some morning dead in bed, or you may fall back down the stairs about an hour and a half after dinner, and the doctor will call it heart disease. Yes, that may be the result, but not the cause. The cause is indigestion. Indigestion is a simple, common word, but it has a terrible import.

And so you may get apoplexy, and die suddenly while you're standing.

If you have a weak liver, the poison of indigested food will attack it and you will get jaundice. If you have weak kidneys, you will get Bright's Disease or diabetes, from which there is no rescue for any man.

It was a learned physician who said that the progress of a race depended upon the stomachs of its members.

And you have at some time in your life eaten a heavy meal, or eaten in a hurry, and felt that "lump of lead" immediately afterwards. That lump of lead is a hard ball of undigested food. The stomach can't digest it, and finds it hard to throw it out. And so it sours, and it makes you sour and everybody sour who talks with you. It gives you a bad breath and is building for you the road to dyspepsia and death, unless you stop it.

Stop it with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Just think, these little tablets are every bit as powerful as the gastric juice in your stomach. One grain will digest 3,000 grains of food, Isn't this wonderful? And it is true, just try it, and prove it.

If you have any brash, gas on the stomach, fermentation, burning, bloaty feeling, indigestion, dyspepsia or heartburn, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will make it disappear before it can do any harm to your heart or other organs.

They will invigorate the stomach, relieve the stomach of two-thirds of its work and give it a chance to rest. They will increase the flow of gastric juice, and if you will ever "live" in your lifetime, it will be after you have eaten a good, hearty meal, and taken one of these little tablets immediately afterwards. You'll just feel fine.

Take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after your next meal today and you will use them ever afterward. You will be cheerful, vigorous and your mind will be clear, you'll have snap and vim, and add many a day to your life.

You can get these wonderful little tablets at any druggist's for 50c a package.

Say "Yes"

To This Offer, and See the Good You Will Get.

Write us if you are ready to try Liquozone. Let us buy the first bottle for you. Let the product itself prove the good it can do.

You who are waiting don't know what you miss. There are plenty to tell you if you would ask; for millions have already used it. Some use it to get well: some to keep well. Some to cure germ diseases; some as a tonic. You will use it as they do, when you learn what the product does. And you will then regret that you delayed so long.

What Liquozone Is.

The virtues of Liquozone are derived solely from gases, by a process requiring large apparatus, and from 8 to 14 days' time. No alcohol, no narcotics are in it. Chemists of the highest class direct the making. The result is to obtain from these harmless gases a powerful tonic-germicide.

The great value of Liquozone lies in the fact that it is deadly to germs, yet harmless to you. Germs are of vegetable origin; and this gas-made product, when absorbed by them, stops their activities. We publish an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. But to the body Liquozone is exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying. It is helpful in the extreme.

That is its main distinction. Common germicides are poisons when taken internally. That is why medicine proves so nearly helpless in a germ disease. Liquozone is a tonic.

We Paid $100,000

For the American rights to Liquozone, after hundreds of tests had been made with it. After its power had been demonstrated, again and again, in the most difficult germ diseases. Then we spent, in two years, more than ten times that sum to let others test it at our expense. The result is that millions of people, scattered everywhere, have shared in the benefits of this invention.

We make the same offer to you. We ask you to prove, at our cost, how much this product means to you. Let Liquozone itself show how wrong it is to suffer from a trouble that it cures.

Germ Diseases.

Most of our sickness has, in late years, been traced to germ attacks. The list of known germ diseases now numbers about one hundred.

Some germs—as in skin troubles—directly attack the tissues. Some create toxins, causing such troubles as Rheumatism. Blood Poison, Kidney Disease and nerve weakness. Some destroy vital organs, as in Consumption. Some—like the germs of Catarrh—create inflammation; some cause indigestion. Directly or indirectly, nearly every serious ailment is a germ result. Such diseases call for Liquozone—not drugs, which can't kill germs.

Every germ attack, no matter what its symptoms, calls for a germicide. The mildness of Liquozone makes some of its results seem almost incredible. But in that mildness lies the power that germ diseases need. And diseases which have resisted medicine for years often yield at once to it.

50c. Bottle Free.

If you need Liquozone, and have never tried it, please send us this coupon. We will then mail you an order on a local druggist for a full-size bottle, and will pay the druggist ourselves for it. This is our free gift, made to convince you: to let the product itself show you what it can do. In justice to yourself, please accept it today, for it places you under no obligations whatever.

Liquozone costs 50c and $1.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDED FUNERAL OF MAJOR MIMS

Unity Services Were Held at the Residence Yesterday Afternoon---Beautiful Floral Offerings.

THE funeral of Major Livingston Mims took place yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from his late residence, corner Peachtree street and Ponce de Leon avenue. His body was placed temporarily in the receiving vault at Westview cemetery. It is not yet certain whether the interment will take place here or at his former home in Jackson, Miss. The interment, however, will be in private.

Only at long intervals do such large crowds attend funerals in Atlanta as was present yesterday afternoon at the Mims residence. The parlor, hallway, sitting room and dining room, all of them spacious, were crowded, while hundreds stood on the front veranda and on the lawn waiting with uncovered heads for the casket bearing the body of their dead friend to pass.

The funeral offerings were numerous and particularly beautiful, even at this season of the year. It was entirely fitting that at the funeral of a man who had spent his life in loving and caring for flowers there should be so great a profusion of them around his casket.

Massive and beautiful floral offerings came from the Southeastern Tariff Association, the New York office of the New York Life Insurance Company, the governing board of the Capital City Club and from many other organizations. There was one bunch of white roses, tied with a white ribbon. On the card was written, "From your faithful friend, Ben." Ben is an old negro man who has been the friend and servant of Major Mims for years.

Unity Service Rendered.

Three religious denominations combined in conducting the funeral of Major Mims, three creeds that are far apart in beliefs, albeit having the same objects. The services began with a duet by Dr. William Owens and Mrs. W. C. Jarnagin.

Immediately afterwards the burial service of the Episcopal church was read by Bishop C. K. Nelson, of the diocese of Georgia.

A talk of about two minutes was made by Rev. Dr. W. W. Landrum, pastor of the First Baptist church, who ended with a beautiful prayer.

A second hymn was sung by Dr. Owens and Mrs. Jarnagin, after which Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schofield, the readers of the Christian Science church, read appropriate selections from the Scriptures and from "Science of Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Rev. Mary Baker G. Eddy, the Christian Science textbook.

The service closed with a solo by Mrs. William Kelly.

The former mayors of Atlanta met yesterday morning in the office of Mayor Woodward at the city hall and adopted resolutions concerning the death of Major Mims. The meeting was presided over by Colonel W. L. Calhoun.

The following gentlemen were present: Colonel W. L. Calhoun, Captain James W. English, Colonel William H. Hulsey, John H. James and Tyler Cooper.

Text of the Resolution.

The following resolutions were adopted:

"Nearly all the men who have held the office of chief magistrate of the city of Atlanta have passed away, and since our last meeting ex-Mayor Livingston Mims has gone 'beyond the silent river,' and this noble specimen of southern manhood will meet and greet us no more in this world. In private life he appreciated the quiet happiness of the domestic hearth, enjoyed the pleasures of the social circle, ever ready to respond in the service of his friends, met all who approached him with frankness, kindness and courtesy and sweet words of friendship, and in conversation gave expression to the brightest gems of thought. He was a true son of the south, and in her great struggle for right and honor espoused her cause, and as an officer on the staff of General Joseph E. Johnston and General John C. Pemberton, rendered invaluable service, and to the time of his death his love for and devotion to his native southland never abated. As mayor he brought to bear his splendid business qualifications and left behind him the record of a successful and brilliant administration.

"Therefore, in commemoration of this splendid type of a true southern gentleman and official, be it

"Resolved, first, his death has deeply touched our hearts and filled them with sorrow.

"Second, our city has lost one of its leading, most honorable and useful citizens.

"Third, we tender to his dear wife and daughter and the members of his family our sincere sympathy in their great bereavement, hoping that God will comfort them and that the dark shadows bending o'er them may pass and they may again meet their loved one, 'now from earth's fireside vanished,' in the Father's home, and be forever safe in heaven.

"Fourth, may beautiful flowers, which in life he loved so well, ever sweetly bloom on his last resting place.

"Fifth, that an engrossed copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased, that they be published in the city papers and that the mayor and general council be requested to have them entered upon their minutes."

Tribute of Insurance Men.

Members of the Georgia Association of Life Insurers yesterday adopted resolutions concerning the death of Major Mims. The resolutions follow:

"Whereas, by the death of our friend and associate, Major Livingston Mims, we are called upon to express our sense of grief and bereavement and to pay tribute to the memory of one who so signally and conspicuously graced our profession, we would mention that Major Mims, immediately after the civil war appreciated the importance of the beneficent work of life insurance and placed his valuable talents at the service of the New York Life Insurance Company.

"When Major Mims entered the life insurance profession it was at a time when the work needed men of his attainments to formulate and develop its interests in these southern states. Associating himself with General J. E. Johnston and ex-Governor B. G. Humphries, of Mississippi, he developed the southern territory for his company many years in advance of similar efforts on the part of others who have followed him.

"Major Mims blazed the path, and all who are today engaged in the work are following in his tracks. There is no instance of so large an organization covering so thoroughly and efficiently so large a field as was the territory organized by his efforts.

"The Capital City Club, of which he was the honored president, will rightly extol his social qualities, and the Fire Insurance Association may well remember his distinguished services in their business, while all Atlantans will remember his executive ability and his distinguished services as the city's executive. We indorse all that may or can be said as to his preeminent services in whatever work he undertook, but we honor him as the nestor of life insurance in the southern states, and remember with pride our honored association with him when he was the esteemed president of our association; therefore be it

"Resolved, first, That in the death of Major Livingston Mims our association has lost a beloved member and our profession suffered the loss of one of its most distinguished workers.

"Second, That we mourn his loss and extend our sincere sympathy to his bereaved family.

"Third, That these resolutions be spread on the minutes of our association and a copy of same furnished to the press and to the family of our deceased friend and associate."

Broyles Adjourns Court.

Judge Nash R. Broyles yesterday afternoon adjourned the police court as a mark of respect to Major Mims. Immediately after calling the morning session to order Judge Broyles said:

"Before beginning the regular business of this morning's court I have a painful announcement to make. Major Livingston Mims, a short time ago the mayor of our city, is dead. His funeral occurs this afternoon, and I think it a proper and befitting mark of respect to his memory that this court should adjourn after this morning's session until tomorrow morning.

"Major Mims, while mayor, was ever in close and sympathetic touch with the judge of this court and always sustained him in his official duties. He was a faithful and incorruptible public official, a pure private citizen, a faithful friend, a loving father and husband, and, above all of these, he was what has well been called 'the noblest work of God,' an honest man."

ROW ABOUT CLOCK CAUSES SHOOTING

J. H. Crotchfield Used Gun on J. W. Wilson.

Wound Not Serious—Wilson Was Collecting for Clock He Sold Crutchfield—Wilson Makes No Statement—What Crutchfield Says.

A diasgreement about payment for a clock in the office of John H. Crutchfield, room 238 Peoples building, resulted yesterday evening about 6 o'clock in Crutchfield shooting J. Wheeler Wilson, president of the Holbrook Household Specialty Company.

Wilson was taken to the Grady hospital where an examination of his wound showed that the bullet had struck him in the left breast near the heart, but the ball had glanced and the injury was not considered serious. From the hospital Wilson was taken in a cab to his home, 25 Bedford Place.

Crutchfield was placed under arrest by Patrolman Cason and sent to the police barracks. He was allowed to employ a special guard for the night, and Officer Garner accompanied him to his home, 307 Rawson street.

At the barracks, Crutchfield, who is agent for a machinery company, stated that the shooting had been in self defense.

"Wilson entered my office," he said, "and demanded payment for a clock I had purchased from his company. I told him the clock was not what it had been represented to be and said that if it was put in as good condition as it was when I bought it I would pay him. At this he became angry. He drew a heavy stick as if to strike me and I shot him. I saw he was hit as he turned to leave. I had to shoot to keep the man from braining me with his stick."

When Wilson was asked for a statement he said:

"I have no statement to make. Just say that Wilson is laying low."

The police were notified by 'phone last night that Wilson would take out a warrant for Crutchfield this morning, charging him with assault with intent to murder. The city case is set for a hearing in the recorder's court this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

MAN AND WOMAN UNDER ARREST

Couple Held at Americus Pending Fitzgerald Instructions.

Americus, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—A handsome young woman giving her name as Mrs. Bertha French, and a man, W. F. Hobbs, are detained at the police barracks here tonight awaiting instructions from authorities at Fitzgerald, where both reside. The woman arrived here yesterday, while Hobbs came this afternoon, when both were immediately arrested.

Mrs. French collapsed upon entering the barracks, and a physician was called to attend her. To Police Chief Feagin she stated that she had a family in Fitzgerald. Hobbs is alleged to be married likewise. Fitzgerald authorities are expected to advise disposition of the couple.

Landlord Kills Tenant.

Athens, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—This morning at his home in Oglethorpe county, a few miles from Winterville J. C. Crawford Fleeman shot and killed Charley Wilson, one of his tenants. Wilson and Fleeman fell out about some rations and Wilson was throwing large rocks at Fleeman, when the latter shot him through the head. Fleeman gave himself up, but was released after the coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

Guardianship for Duke.

Schwerin, Duchy of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, March 6.—A decree of the Grand Duke Frederick Francis was gazetted today placing his uncle, Duke Paul Frederick, and the latter's wife, the Princess Marie of Winscher-Graebe, under gardianship. It is understood that extravagance is the cause in this case. Master of the Horse Von Stenglin has been appointed guardian of the duke and duchess.

Oglethorpe Primary April 12.

Lexington, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—The democratic executive committee of Oglethorpe county convened yesterday and called a democratic primary for the nominations of county officers on the 12th of April. All white voters eligible who will promise to abide by the nomination are entitled to vote.

Nunnally and Hall Invited.

Dublin, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—The admirers in the city of Dr. G. A. Nunnally have invited him to deliver a political address in this city. He has not yet named a date when he can come. An invitation has also been sent to Hon. Joe Hill Hall, who is a supporter of Dr. Nunnally to speak in this city.

FORTY-THREE YEARS SPENT IN CONGRESS BY ALLISON

WASHINGTON, March 6—(Special) Senator William Boyd Allison has just celebrated the seventy-seventh anniversary of his birth, and the forty-third anniversary of his connection with congress. It is an honor with but one precedent.

Senator Frye, of Maine, is now his nearest competitor for length of congressional service, and Senator Morgan, for a period of senatorial work. Mr. Frye has served thirty-five years continuously in the house and senate, while the Alabaman has been in the senate twenty-nine years.

Iowans are confident that before their grand old leader shall have cast aside his senatorial toga he will have rounded out a half a century in congressional work. Their idol has three years yet to serve in his present term. That will make forty-six years of the senator's life spent in congress. He will then have attained the age of eighty years. His friends are hopeful that his life may be spared to permit his accomplishment of their desire. He assures them that he will go them one better, and pass the half century mark.

Physically, mentally and otherwise, Senator Allison would not be taken for a man over sixty years. He is in perfect health, clear in thought and ready in speech. His committee work is the most exacting. Yet he never misses a day in the senate chamber or a meeting of the committees of which he is a member. He is fully as active on the floor of the chamber.

He steers the work of the upper chamber in a way that is both impartial and unflinching. In short, among the majority party his word is law. He is lovingly called by his younger associates the "Uncrowned King of the Senate."

Senator Allison was born at Perry, O., March 2, 1829. The first twenty-eight years of his life were spent in his native state. In 1857 he moved to Iowa, and six years later was sent to the house of representatives. He served in the thirty-eighth, thirty-ninth, fortieth and forty-first congresses. On March 4, 1873, he took his seat in the senate to succeed James Harlan. He has served there continuously ever since. The one man who served his country for a longer period than Senator Allison was the late Senator Justin S. Morrill, of Vermont, who served consecutively from 1855 to 1899.

Mr. Merrill, however, served but thirty-two years in the senate, while Senator Allison has completed his thirty-third year there. Thomas H. Benton, John Sherman, Francis Marion Cockrell, and John P. Jones are the other senators who have served a period of thirty years in the upper chamber.

BURRILL COLLEGE DESTROYED.

Institution at Spencer, Tenn., Victim of Flames.

Nashville, March 6.—Burrill College, including the dormitories, at Spencer, Tenn., were destroyed at an early hour this morning. Loss $14,000; insured for $5,000.

The fire started from a defective flue. There were no causualties. The college will be rebuilt.

Anti-Pool Bill Stolen.

Frankfort, Ky., March 6.—Representative Simmons today called attention to the fact that the official and all copies of his bill to suppress pool rooms have been stolen from the records of the state senate. He demanded a searching investigation. The job was well done, not even a printed copy of the bill remaining. The house appointed a committee, giving it authority to swear wit-

DEATH DESCENDS UPON COLUMBUS

Dr. Charles Estes, Miss Kiolin and Mr. Scarbrough Dead.

Columbus, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—The deaths of two prominent Columbus people occurred today.

Dr. Charles E. Estes died shortly before noon at his room in the Estes house on Broad street ,after an illness of less than two days of acute indigestion. He was on the street only two or three days ago and appeared to be in his customary health, and his sudden attack, culminating in his death today, was a great shock to his friends. Dr. Estes was a member of a prominent Columbus family. Years ago he was in the hardware business, and afterwards began the practice of medicine. He and Mrs. Estes were the proprietors of the Estes House, the well known hostelry. He is survived by his wife and a daughter, Mrs. Homer Dimon.

The other death was that of Miss Mamie Kivlin, which occurred quite unexpectedly this morning at her home on lower Broad street. Miss Kivlin was one of the oldest, most experienced and most successful music teachers in Columbus. She taught classes for many years and was thoroughly identified with her favorite art in Columbus, being regarded as one of the leaders in music matters. Miss Kivlin's health had not been good for a year or two, but she had apparently recovered from a serious illness of a year or so ago, and had recently been in her usual health. It was a sad coincidence that Miss Kivlin's death, also, was caused by acute indigestion, and that the fatal illness was of the same length as that of Dr. Estes. The two deaths occurred abou the same time.

J. W. Scarbrough, Columbus, Ga.

Columbus, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—J. W. Scarbrough, aged 74 years, died at his residence on First avenue last night of heart disease. He was a Confederate veteran. His wife, two children and a brother, Kelley Scarbrough, of Augusta, survive him.

Will Attend the Reunion.

Covington, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—At the regular monthly meeting of Jefferson Lamar camp, No. 305, United Confederate Veterans, in this city Tuesday morning, the old officers of the camp were reelected and delegates appointed to represent the camp at the reunion in New Orleans. It is likely that a large number of the old vets will attend the reunion from this section, and as has been the custom for a number of years a special car will probably be chartered for the trip. Those who will represent the local camp in an official capacity are Colonel L. L. Middlebrooks, Captain W. F. Gay, Judge J. W. Robertson and Hon. J. W. Branham. Judge Capers Dickson and Judge J. W. Robertson have been appointed the committee on transportation.

Hart Goes to Hot Springs.

Macon, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—Alderman Jesse Hart is in Hot Springs, Ark., for health. For several months he has suffered from a slight illness and this has proven a necessty for the trip. He will be absent from Macon several days.

THOMAS BARRETT PASSES AWAY

Distinguished Citizen, of Augusta, Died Yesterday Morning.

Augusta, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—Colonel Thomas Glascock Barrett, one of the city's best-known residents, died here this morning after an illness of a few days. He was born in Augusta July 5, 1838, and was the son of Thomas Barrett and Savannah Gascock. He was educated at the Georgia Military academy, being graduated with high honors. In 1860 he married Miss Grace Arrington Ware, of Athens, Ga. He entered the confederate service in 1861 as lieutenant in the Irish volunteers, and at the end of the war had risen to the rank of chief ordinance officer of the staff of General Hardee. He took a gallant part in the battles of Shiloh, Murfreesboro and Chickamuaga and followed with unflagging courage the fortunes of General Johnston in the historic retreat from Dalton to Atlanta.

Colonel Barrett is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Louis E. Dugas, of Augusta, and Mrs. Edward W. Butt, of Liverpoll, England; and three sons, Thomas Barrett, Jr., and H. Gould Barrett, of Augusta, and Edward Barrett, of Birmingham. His sisters, Mrs. Harriett Gould, of Augusta, and Mrs. Ferdinand Phinizy, of Athens, also survive him.

The funeral will take place from the residence of his son, Thomas, tomorrow afternoon, Rev. J. T. Plunkttt officiating at the services.

Mill's Stock Valuable.

Canton, Ga., March 6. —(Special.)—Ten shares of the capital stock of the Canton Cotton Mills were sold here today at outcry among the stockholders of the mill and averaged about $202 for each share of the par value of $100. The mill has been running five years, during which time the original $100,000 plant has been increased to double its original size, besides paying annual dividends on stock. R. T. Jones is the president, with M. W. Drives as superintendent, and the above test of stock value shows how well the enterprise has succeeded and in what confidence it is held by the public.

Primary Date Not Chosen.

Covington, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—Pursuant to a call by Chairman James M. Pace, the democratic executive committee of Newton county met in the court house here today. The committee had been called together for the purpose of setting a date for the county primary and to formulate rules governing same, but it was decided today to postpone the matter until the first Tuesday in April, when a mass meeting of the democratic voters of the county will be held in the county court house.

Slaps Child and Gets Sentence.

Macon, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—Because he slapped the small son of Captain W. A. Simpson, Lewis Carter, a colored farmer, got a sentence of six months' labor or a fine of $80 in the city court this morning after a brief trial and a much shorter time for a jury to bring a verdict of guilty. The white boy had been in a dispute with the negro's son and he interfered with the results of the trial following.

NEGROES RAISE LARGE AMOUNT

Meridian Blacks Are Aiding the Storm Sufferers.

Tornado Death List Stands at Twenty, and It Is Now Believed That All Those Who Perished Have Been Recovered.

Meridian, Miss., March 6.—The better class of negroes are supporting the general relief committee in the firm stand it has taken against feeding idle and shiftless blacks who claim to be victims of the tornado of last Friday night. The better class of negroes held a meeting today and after sustaining the conduct of the general relief committee raised $700, which was added to the general relief fund.

The tornado death list stands at twenty and it is now believed that all the bodies have been recovered. The work of rebuilding has begun on an extensive scale. Private E. G. Jones, of the national guard on duty here, who was stabbed last night by a bayonet in the hands of Private Arthur Stokes, will recover, so it is thought.

Even Better Than Frumenty

Old English Dish Is Now Surpassed by a Malted Grain Food.

Writing on the food problem and advocating a rational health diet, Dr. Josiah Oldfield, author of "The Claims of Common Life" and other well-known works, declares a sufficiency of grain food is necessary and refers to the old English dish of frumenty as a most excellent article of food. He also speaks of malted grain as a food for increasing years. This eminent author thus strikes the very keynote of health and strength.

There is a modern food which embraces all the qualities of frumenty and has even more, for it is malted grain. We refer to Malta-Vita—all pure grain and nothing else.

Malta-Vita is made by an extended and elaborated process of the old way of making frumenty. The whole wheat grain is thoroughly cleaned, then boiled in water and cooked in steam to gelatinize the starch. After the starch cells have broken down, the wheat is mixed with pure barley malt extract which converts the gelatinized starch into maltose, or malt sugar, highly nutritious and easily digested even by the weakest stomachs. Then each grain of wheat is rolled into little wafer flakes and goes to the great ovens where, under intense heat, it is baked crisp and brown, "done to a turn," and ready for your table.

All grocers sell Malta-Vita. Now 10 cents.

DR. W. J. DAWSON AT OPERA HOUSE

Several Leading Churches Will Unite in Services.

Sunday night Rev. W. J. Dawson, the British evangelist whose revival at Trinity Methodist church, is one of the most notable in Atlanta's religious history, will preach at the Grand opera house. Several of the leading Protestant churches of the city, among them the First Baptist and the Central Congregational, will unite in the services.

The choirs of a number of the churches will be merged and the music will be a splendid feature.

This afternoon Dr. Dawson will preach at Trinity church on the theme "The Evangelization of the Ministry," and it is his wish that all of the pastors of the city attend. The general public is, ot course, invited.

Dr. Dawson's two services yesterday were attended by large congregations who were spellbound by his wonderful preaching.

TARIFF DEBATE FOR SOLID DAY

Leader Williams Made Notable Speech in House.

Number of Other Representatives Took Part in Discussion, Which Practically Took Up the Entire Time the House Was in Session.

Washington, March 6.—The house began its session today by passing without discussion or opposition a bill for the relief of tobacco growers, by permitting them to sell leaf tobacco without paying the tax of 6 cents a pound heretofore charged.

The balance of the day was devoted to tariff discussion, the Indian appropriation bill being the vehicle to carry the debate. Preceding this Mr. Sherman explained that provision of the bill.

The tariff discussion was opened by Mr. Rucker, of Missouri, who brought, forth arguments designed to sustain the democratic idea of tariff for revenue only, and he closed with the prediction that these ideas would prevail with W. J. Bryan as the standard-bearer.

Turning his attention to the tariff on the Mergenthaler type setting machine, Mr. Rucker said it had been demonstrated that these machines could be produced for $500, and yet they were sold for $3,000, because of the tariff. There were 20,000 publications in this country affected by this price. Thousands of petitions from editors had been sent to the present congress "urging the removal of this prohibitory and monopolistic duty."

Mr. Lacey discussing the home market and the German tariff, incited a lively fire of argument from both sides and participated in generally. Near the close of the day Mr. Williams, the minority leader, talked tariff for more than an hour. Mr. Williams spoke on the various bills he introduced and asserted that 25 per cent of the cost of the commodities would cover as a rule the actual cost of the labor in their production.

"There are few things," began Mr. Williams, "alone and at the same time more amusing and more pitiable than the acrobatic exploits of human intelligence when attempting to prove that laws which circumscribe and limit trade tends to increase trade."

The house adjourned until tomorrow without action on the Indian bill.

TOWN PROPOSED BY NEW YORKERS

Alleged that Warm Springs May Be Entirely Transformed.

Warm Springs, Ga., March 6.—(Special.) The new railroad running through Warm Springs and Bullochville will, it is said, build a depot at the bath house at the foot of the hill, on which the hotel stands.

The fact that another railroad is to run through Warm Springs has placed this property on a boom, and two parties are now corresponding with J. L. Treadaway, a Columbus real estate dealer, who has secured an option on the property from Chas. Davis for a sum in the neighborhood of $180,000.

New York people are very anxious to get hold of this property and are going to send a representative to this city in a short time.

It is understood that if the New York men get hold of Warm Springs they will build a town there, as well as greatly improving it from the standpoint of a summer resort. There are rumors that a new hotel will be erected, aand the old one thoroughly overhauled.

The new railroad which runs so close to the hotel will go direct to Birmingham, but another road is to be built from Warm Springs to Atlanta.

Gilbert Heads Association.

Columbus, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—Captain S. P. Gilbert was last night elected president of the Columbus Relief Association, succeeding Dr. W. H. Smith, who recently removed from the city. The association has been in existence eight years and has done splendid work in relieving the wants of the deserving poor of the city.

Gordon Primary April 3.

Calhoun, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—The Gordon County Democratic Executive Committee met today and fixed the date of the primary to nominate a member of the legislature and county officers for Tuesday, April 3.

T. A. Cantrell was elected permanent chairman and J. T. McVay, clerk. The following resolutions were adopted:

"Resolved, That all white voters without regard to past political affiliations who desire to align themselves with the democratic party, and who will, if their right to participate in said promary be challenged, pledge themselves to support the nominees of the democratic party, are hereby declared entitled to vote therein, provided they are registered and qualified voters as the law requires.

'Resolved, second, That we condemn the use of money, whiskey and other things of value for the purpose of controlling votes or influencing votes."

There are quite a number of candidates for the different offices, among them being Hon. C. H. Lewis, the present representative from the county, who stands for reelection, and O. Calbeck, who is opposing him.

Arguing Matthews Case.

Greensboro, N. C., March 6.—The case for the defendant in the trial of Dr. J. B. Matthews, for wife murder, was concluded today at nine minutes to 12. Before 1 o'clock the evidence in rebuttal had been heard and all was ready for defense and prosecution to take up their arguments with the afternoon session of court.

Where Purity Predominates

The high ethical plain on which we conduct our business has won the complete confidence of the public.

We are extremists in the pursuance of one single policy, to keep our business methods and every attribute thereof up to the highest point of perfection.

This policy has not been a sudden impulse to improve.

The conduct of our business and the quality of the goods we make and sell have ever been distinctly superior; and on such entirely different lines have our methods been advanced and improved, that our store and its environments and tributary annexes are absolutely free from any and all objectionable characteristics.

It has taken heroic, untiring endeavor to make this establishment the model store that it is; but our efforts have met with such unanimous approbation that the labor is forgotten in the success achieved.

The purity of our products is proverbial.

They never change in quality except for the better.

Our oldest established brands, Rose's Old Reserve Stock Corn and our famous

"Purity"

Rye Whiskey, that we have sold continuously for over forty years, are of a higher standard of excellence today than ever before.

This is a radical departure from the usual history of old established brands of various things we know of, that having gained popularity—gradually declined in quality and are relegated to the background.

Our goods are better today than ever, and a single purchase of anything we sell will convince you of the truth of our statement.

SHORT ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

MRS. FRANK GALE IS QUITE ILL at her home on Currier street.

DR. J. C. SOLOMON, STATE SUPERintendent of the Georgia Anti-Saloon League, will speak in interest of the league work at Locust Grove this evening at 7:30 o'clock. Quite an interest is being manifested in Locust Grove in the work of the Anti-Saloon League.

A TINY CABBAGE SNAKE WAS discovered by the family of Dr. W. N. Tuggle, 94 Hilliard street, in a fine head of cabbage, purchased for home consumption. The "varmint" was about two and one-half inches long, and red in color. It had a head like a snake, and was coiled up in approved snake fashion. When released he started off with a snakelike movement, but died in a few minutes after being driven from his cabbage leaf home.

TWO STREET CARS, NOS. 110 AND 125, bumped yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock on Alabama street, near Whitehall, both moving eastward. The force of the collision was sufficient to shatter the glass in the vestibule of the forward car, while the passengers in both cars were shaken up severely. No one in either car was hurt, though a number of ladies were badly frightened. The accident was due to a failure to change a switch at the corner, the rear car's schedule calling for a Whitehall street run, while the front car was consigned to the Alabama street line.

THE ATLANTA HIBERNIANS ARE now perfecting plans for a celebration of St. Patrick's day. The 17th comes this year on Saturday, but if the arrangements now contemplated are perfected the exercises will take place on the next day, Sunday. High mass at the Church of the Immaculate Conception will be the feature of the day.

THE SPRING TERM OF THE United States court will be convened Monday next with an unusually large docket ready for judge, attorneys, juries and witnesses. Criminal cases will be taken up first, and unless the grand jury turns down a great number of the accusations ready for presentation by the district attorney's office, it will require many days of hard, industrious work to dispose of that feature. The greater part of the criminal charges have to do with illicit distilling and other violations of the revenue laws, while postal law infringements and currency irregularities are to be found among the allegatons made by the prosecuting attorneys before the grand jury.

Senators Lose First Game.

MARO'S MUSIC AND MAGIC PLEASE MANY AT GRAND

Maro, the magician, presented last night at the Grand to a packed house, his unique and comprehensive entertainment consisting of music and magic. The attraction was given under the auspicies of the Atlanta Lecture Association.

Maro himself is a marvel of versatility. He is a magician of cleverness, a ready artist and a splendid musician. The three attainments he has carried to a high state of perfection and thereby gives to an audience an evening of mirth and instructive enjoyment that is hardly surpassed in its line.

Miss Christine Giles, who accompanied him as a vocal soloist, has a strong, pure soprano voice and performed the unusual feat of singing and playing her own accompaniment on the violin at the same time. She quite captivated the audience.

A contemporary describes the rate bill as intended to do just the same work the interstate commerce commission was supposed to execute twenty years ago. There is truth and national shame in that statement.

The interstate commerce commission has again found the Standard Oil Company guilty of rate fixing, but technically innocent of any violation of law. The Standard Oil Company is as slick as the commodity in which it deals.

The Chinese manifested rare political discretion in refraining from killing any American missionaries this time. They have doubtless heard of that awful trio ready to swoop down on 'em from the Philippines—Wood, Corbin and Funston.

Reenter the Mule.

With spring half-way over the horizon and the plow-points beginning to renew their acquaintance with the furrows comes again our old friend, the mule, with tail adroop, eyes brimming with large and ominous tears, and the whole mien descriptive of the deepest dejection—pleading for a defender bold enough to enter the lists and repel the maligners who once more show indications of renewed and venomous activity. The Constitution had reveled in the soothing belief that it had settled this vexed controversy some months ago. A contemporary in Texas had come forth in a fierce and wanton denunciation of this faithful creature, saddling on him or on her all the crimes in the category of brute dereliction; with not one word of commendation or gratitude for the part the mule has played in the upbuilding of this country.

The Constitution felt impelled at that time to say a few words in behalf of this most misunderstood of the tribe of burden-bearers, and it is our recollection that the critics took to the tall timbers after a fleeting and ineffectual resistance.

But our issue Monday demonstrated that the mule yet has some enemies in this portion of the United States. Their animosity was brought into play through the action of one of the aforesaid animals in forcibly detaching himself from a hitching post and, though handicapped by a wagon laden with ice cream, doing a sprint which for speed and picturesqueness far discounted the performances recently ended at Daytona, Fla., when a certain Demogeot covered two miles in one minute. In the performance of this feat the mule destroyed things other than time and space, and precipitated a legal controversy as to damages, rent, advertising and other more or less tangible commodities.

We record with anguish that during the process of the trial some of the old-time libels concerning the mule were revamped in all their unrelenting vigor. Some of the witnesses pictured him as an ornery, destructive and malingering beast, capricious of disposition, agile and catapultic of hoof, with many lives suddenly blinked out to his discredit, and with the blame of having caused a numberless horde of industrious laborers to lose their religion in a lather of profanity. It is likewise our pleasure to record that the mule had his defenders in court that day. Some of the most able and convincing members of the local bar drew moving pictures of his lamb-like patience, his ready forgiveness of injuries, and the passion for hard labor which has crowded the animal sanitoriums of the country with hybrids suffering from aggravated attacks of nervous prostration. In the end, their eloquence justly prevailed and the slandered mule emerged from the ordeal in triumph, mid the braying of trumpets and the congratulations of his friends.

It is to be trusted that the vindication is final, and that never again will the docility, the amiability or the energy of Maud or Buck be called into question.

What boots it if the mule does occasionally, under the stimulation of spring suns, yank the plow through the furrow with such speed as to leave the reluctant plow-boy dangling on to the handles with bulging eyes and perspiring brow? Does he not subsequently expiate such follies in a return to the plodding, even gait from which not even the brutal goad will drive him? Concede that he does, at rare intervals, send his driver hurling over the ten-rail fence into the next county, without the usual thirty days' notice; is it not possible that he is taking belated vengeance for some of the libels pasted on his wasted hide through the years, or the cruel misunderstandings of which he has so long been the innocent victim?

Consider the part he has played in war and peace! He fought, bled and died at Antietam and Manassas, at Ladysmith and Krugersdorp, at Santiago and El Caney, at Port Arthur and Mukden. He is responsible for the annual production, in good order, of the south's cotton crop—therefore he holds the entire world in grateful vassalage.

Instead of being branded as an Ishmael, with his hoof against every movable object, he should be apotheosized as a paragon of industry and versatility.

Commendable Foresight.

The New Orleans board of health does not intend being caught napping in the matter of yellow fever during the pending sason. It has promulgated a reward of $5 for the first stegomyia, the plague-scattering mosquito, found dead or alive within the confines of the city; $3 for the apprehension of the second, and $2 for the third.

It is the hope and belief of the city authorities that New Orleans has been thoroughly purged of these fatal little insects. A great many thousands of dollars have been spent in fumigating and cleansing operations and so far as human intelligence can effect the task, all spots where mosquitoes might originate and multiply have been removed. The board does not, however, propose taking any chances, and its members desire to know at the earliest possible moment the steps needed to eradicate the medium responsible for the spread of yellow fever. Hence the reward.

The country has by no means forgotten the heroic and self-sacrificing fight the Crescent City waged last year. It is in order to suggest, however, that while a close watch is being kept on the mosquito, an equally keen vigilance be exercised with regard to quarantine regulations. The danger from the latter source is perhaps greater than from the insects; certainly not less. Ships arriving from Central and South American countries as well as West Indian ports should be scrupulously subjected to inspection, detention and tests, to prove their freedom of even suspicious cases.

New Orleans, in connection with the other gulf ports, has in a large measure the welfare of the south on her shoulders in this important respect. We are inclined to believe that the disastrous lesson of last year has been thoroughly learned, and that the southern states generally may safely repose their confidence in the vigilance and fidelity of the health officials along the gulf.

Too Good To Be True.

The inevitable climax of Lent is Easter and the inevitable climax of Easter is the bill-collector, with his heaped-up duns for the bonnets and the gowns with which the universal feminine is presumed to celebrate the closing of the season of limited diet and penitential array. If we would believe the humorous weeklies, the groans of the repentant sinners are hardly louder or more heartfelt than the wails of the besieged husbands as they bolster their bank accounts against the inroads of madame when she comes forth clad in the apparel of spring.

But now an optimistic note sounds with welcome clearness. The president of the Dressmakers' National Protective Association, whatever that organization may be, announces that dresses this year will be less expensive than ever before. Simple tones and uncomplicated styles are to prevail, and the ladies who are only happy when they are extravagant are doomed to a season of economical misery.

We heartily wish that we might believe this cheering bit of news. But it has a sadly reminiscent tone. It seems, somehow, that we have heard the same encouraging announcement heralded with glib glee by those tyrants—the style-makers. But, alas! In the midst of our protracted rejoicing the accounts payable from the mantua-maker have swooped down "like a wolf on the fold," and behold! If any change were at all noticeable it came in the direction of higher charges. When the Greeks stand at the gates bearing presents we view them with a wary eye, our hands on our swords—and a cordon of minute men guarding our purses.

So that it is as yet too early to sign an armistice with the disturbers of the dreams of married masculinity. We prefer to wait until the closing days of summer, when we will be in a better position to appraise the worth of their protestations.

To General and Mrs. Joe Wheeler.

In Loving Remembrance.

In Alabama's fairest vale,
The gentle mother sleeps beside her youngest son;
While distant far, the father, kind,
The general brave, takes his last sleep in Arlington.

To one who knew them both so well,
These separated graves so far apart,
Touch with a feeling, most akin to pain,
The tenderest emotions of the heart.

We fain could wish they were laid
Just side by side in Alabama's garden sweet,
Where rose and violet and magnolia's bloom
Would shed their richest blossoms at those gentle feet.

At the old home where children dear
Grew up to fair, brave womanhood and man's estate,
Five sweet daughters and two brave sons,
The loved mother with children sleeping there awaits

The others coming. That is why
I feel 'tis sad to have the father far away:
But, then, what will it all avail
When the great trumpet sounds on resurrection day?

When all at last shall meet again—
The nation's brave, the tender wives and children dear—
By that summons awakened be
And will, in all that host, be reunited there.

100 Miles an Hour by Boat.

(From The New York Times.)

An entirely new principle for the propulsion of vessels has been invented by Herbert A. Rider and will be on exhibition at the sportsmen's show. According to its inventor, it is applicable to ships of any size, and will bring within the bound of possibility such extraordinary speeds as 100 to 150 miles an hour.

About half way between the water line and the keel of the boat a pipe is run fore and aft, open at both ends. In a cylinder connected with it by an elbow, curving aft, gas from vaporized kerosene oil will be exploded, as gasoline is in the ordinary automobile. The fore-and-aft pipe will be full of water, and as waster is inelastic, all aft of the elbow will be forced out with tremendous force.

Were it not for the pipe running forward, a bubble of great size under the stern would be the only result. But the forward pipe will be emptied of water also, a vacuum will be created, and water will rush in to fill it. In this way the vessel will be forced through the water as though it were hauled along a cable stretched from shore to shore.

In one cylinder 3,000 explosions a minute can be made by means of an ordinary induction coil. This would be trying on the machinery, so a number of cylinders, to be operated alternately, can be fitted to one pipe. An ingenious attachment regulates the number of explosions and maintains the proper pressure of the air on the oil in the tank at the same time.

As many pipes as desired may be fitted to a vessel, and by reversing the elbows connecting the cylinders with the pipe the force may be expended in sending the boat astern instead of ahead. An inch and a half pipe will serve an 18-foot boat, and it is hoped at the sportsmen's show to exhibit a launch with three cylinders and a 4-inch pipe, capable of developing 30 miles an hour with thirty-five horse power.

Mr. Rider has a working model at 15 East Sixteenth street. Patents have been applied for by ex-Alderman Jacob C. Wend.

GOSSIP AT THE CAPITOL

Some side lights were thrown on a certain kind of political polling by Hon. E. R. Jones, of Doughtery county, who was a visitor at the capitol yesterday.

Colonel Jones is a former member of the house of representatives and a leading citizen of Albany and Doughtery county. In speaking of the political situation in his home territory, he said yesterday:

"Doughtery can be counted in the Howell column and indications are that Lee will go the same way.

"Recently I got a friend to make a poll of Washington street, in Albany, finding that a big majority was for Howell. I took the names of the Hoke Smith men and went to each of them personally and asked them how they stood, knowing already they were for Mr. Smith. In this way I soon had a poll which read something like this; Hoke Smith 20, everybody else 0.

"Well, this caused some little amusement in the county. It served to illustrate how many of the polls are taken which claim everything for Mr. Smith."

Mr. Kinoshita, who was the imperial Japanese representative at the international railroad congress, which met in Washington last May, and who is still studying railroad matters in America, called on Governor Terrell yesterday.

The Oriental, who is a very intelligent gentleman, highly educated and of pleasant address, made quite an impression on the governor. He requested information concerning the state's railroad, the Western and Atlantic, and asked particularly about the present lease, under which the road is operated.

He asked for and was given a copy of the act under which the lease was made. This document will be sent back to Japan, along with other documentary matter which has been collected by Mr. Kinoshita.

Hon. John S. Hyde, president of the Bath Iron Works, of Bath, Maine, which is building the battleship Georgia, has yielded to the solicitation of Governor Terrell and has agreed to deliver an address to the students of the Georgia Tech at 11:30 o'clock this morning.

Mr. Hyde is a man of remarkable personality and ranks in the very forefront of the ship builders of the world. The faculty of the Tech feel that it was fortunate indeed the governor was able to prevail upon Mr. Hyde to remain in Atlanta long enough to address the students.

The railroad commission will be in session today for the purpose of disposing of a large number of routine matters awaiting that body. It is not expected, however, that any matters of great public interest will be taken up, though the commissioners will probably, in executive session, discuss some of the litigation now pending in which the commission is involved.

Governor Terrell yesterday granted a respite until March 17 in the case of A. J. Plunkett, of Butts county, who is under an alternative sentence of fine or imprisonment for selling liquor. The respite was granted in order that Plunkett might have an opportunity of bringing his case before the prison commission.

Plunkett was convicted at the February term of the superior court and sentenced to pay a fine of $1,000 or to serve, as an alternative, 24 months in prison. He regards this sentence as excessive and will appeal to the prison commission for a reduction of it.

In the meantime, under his respite, he will neither have to pay the fine or serve in prison.

The unknown philanthropist and patriot who has agreed to put $17,000 to cover the pension fund deficit stated to Governor Terrell that he would probably make that sum available for the pension commissioner's use on Tuesday or Wednesday of this week.

As nothing was heard from him yesterday, it is expected that the money will be placed on deposit in Atlanta today, although the governor urged the unknown not to inconvenience himself, but to wait till the latter part of the week, if he preferred.

Passing of the Flemish.

(From Public Opinion.)

Are Flanders and the Flemish to become mere names in history? Are the proud traditions of the race to be forgotten today? These are questions which a recent article in The Hamburger Nachrichten answers in the affirmative. "During the past summer the Belgians celebrated with great rejoicing the seventy-fifth anniversary of the day when the Dutch yoke was cast off. For the Dutchmen this was a queer happening, but it was taken in good part, and the merry-making was even entered into. For in reality the Dutch did not regret the separation—the union of 1815 was purely artificial and both sides were relieved when separation became an open fact. There were too many differences of belief, temperament and custom.

"The Belgian Dutchmen, however, soon began to regret the separation. One of the first acts of the new state was to make French an official language, and the Belgians worked with might and main to make the country French. In 1840, however, Jan Frans Willems rose and demanded that French and Flemish be given equal rights in the country, but it was not until 1863 that the first Flemish word was heard in the national assembly. At this time the movement had gained immense proportions. Such men as Snellaent, Blommaerr, Prudens van Dulzse, David, Conscience, Nolet de Braun gathered about Willems; a number of celebrated literary men, Hendrik Conscience, Ledeganck, Jan van Beers and others created a great national poetry; newspapers and periodicals came into existence, unions of propaganda were formed and the Flemish nationality—for centuries more or less oppressed—began to develop. But only in 1898 was Flemish put on an even footing with French.

"Today we are face to face with the fact that the Flemish, after a struggle of sixty years, have been defeated in all directions by a French minority. None of the laws providing for equality of languages has been properly carried out. On the postage stamps and bank notes, it is true, the Dutch tongue apears, but this is mere trifling. For in face of this we see that all official Belgium is in French hands, and it frequently happens that the judges refuse to hear a witness who uses Flemish. Furthermore, the thousands of Flemish people who have been compelled to pass into the district inhabited by the Walloons are entirely helpless—they are simple, unconsidered human beings.

WANTS NO RULE BY BUREAUCRACY

By Jos: Ohl.

Washington, March 6.—(Special.)—The Union News, organ of the Farmers' Union of Georgia, may get a good deal more good advertising in congressional debates before this session ends, but even if it does not it will enjoy the distinction of having furnished occasion for a most interesting and valuable exposure of the general bureaucratic methods in vogue in Washington.

As told briefly in these dispatches, the attention of congress was brought to the exclusion of this organ of the Farmers' Union of Georgia by the adoption of a resolution calling upon the postoffice department to explain why it had been denied the privilege of second-class postage rates.

Mr. Bartlett, in whose district the paper is published, introduced tre resolution and called attention to some of the differences between this publication and that of the American Protective Tariff League, which enjoys the privileges denied the farmers' paper, and then Minority Leader Williams took an active hand in the discussion by using this case as a text for a vigorous excoriation of the growth of bureaucracy in the administration of the country's affairs.

"It would be well, perhaps," began Mr. Williams, "for the house not only to know as a general proposition that the federal government has become one of the greatest bureaucracies in the world, and that we have with us now a government by construction—chiefly of bureau chiefs—but to go into some specifications for which an occasion is furnished by this resolution.

No Trust Advertisements.

"This paper which has been excluded from the mails contains seven pages of reading matter and only a little over one page of advertisements. It is true that on one page of it there is an advertisement of one black horse mule, 10 years old, to be sold, and of a Jersey cow and certain acres of land and certain farms, and all that; so that they seem not to be advertisements of any of the great magnates of the country, of any people who are financiers or 'Napoleons of finance,' and perhaps the bureau chief acted upon the idea of de minimis non curat lex. The American Economist contains about four pages of advertisements, amongst which are the advertisements of the Pittsburg Plate Glass Company, of the great glass trust; and of the Iron Table Cutlery and Hardware Company, of the great cutlery trust; and the Continental Color and Chemical Company; and the Dyewood Company; and the Linotype Company, that all the compositors are requesting us to break up as a trust. Perhaps those advertisements did not infuriate this bureau chief so much as these advertisements of horses and Jersey cows to sell. (Applause.) Then, when we compare the printed matter, Mr. Speaker, there is a little difference. This little homely Georgia sheet contains a letter from 'Brother' Davis, telling of speeches made to a large crowd present of farmers organizing a union to try to help themselves with regard to the sale of their products. And then there comes from Carrollton, Ga., a communication about the humble pursuits of the plain people, stating that 'the roll is growing,' and that they are 'standing back and watching,' and are trying to do something for the agricultural interests of the people.

"Then there comes an injunction to 'do more for the Farmers' Union,' with a piece of poetry, signed by one Mr. Faircloth. It does not compete as poetry with that of Milton, Keats, or Pope, but it contains some very good old doctrines about the rights of the people and equality amongst the people in the United States. The next article is headed 'Paulding Moving on Nicely.' It states that they have held a big farmers' meeting there, and they seem to want the other farmers of the state of Georgia to know it, for mutual encouragement, I suppose. Then there are some resolutions of respect to a deceased farmer, signed by three men, who are, I presume, very plain farmers. Then Brother East writes about the union in Polk, and what glorious work it is doing, and how the people are diversifying their crops. Then 'Brother' Bruce writes of the union in Forsyth, and urges the people to 'keep 'er rolling.' Mighty plain language, that. Now, perhaps Brother Bruce or the speaker alone would be homely enough to use language of that sort. (Laughter.) But it is, at any rate, indicative of the purpose to go on and do well. Then there comes an article from 'Brother' Carver, and Brother Carver seems disposed to think that the agricultural interests of the country ought to get a little bit more of the profit of the boasted progress of the country than they do. Then 'Brother' Tally writes and says that the farmers ought to 'take more papers' and keep up better with the times, and that it would be the very best thing for them. And then along comes a bureau chief and cuts out this paper, which advises them to take more papers, because, I suppose, he does not want them to keep up with the times. They might know too much to stand pat. (Laughter.) Then comes an article on 'How Systems Change and Revolutionize the World.' And in view of what 'Brother' Lawson, up in Massachusetts, has recently said, there is some truth in that.

"Here are some of the things for which these people contend and the doctrine this little sheet, as their organ, preaches; no treason in them—'simple annals of the poor:'

"'1. To discourage as much as possible the present mortgage and credit system.

"'2. To assist our members in buying and selling.

"'To labor for the agricultural classes in the science of crop diversification and scientific agriculture.

"'4. To constantly strive to secure entire harmony and good will among all mankind and brotherly love among ourselves.'

"That last object must have struck the bureau chief athwart his hull. (Laughter.)

"'5. To form a more adequate union with those in authority for a more rigid and impartial enforcement of the law, that crime, vice and immorality may be suppressed.'

"That squints too much at enforcing the anti-trust law for an average republican bureau chief to tolerate.

The Paper Not Excluded.

"Now, I hold in my hand a paper which has not been excluded by this bureau chief. It has not advertisements of the character I have indicated, but of the linotype trust, the plate-glass trust, and all the balance of it, and its advertisement contents recommended the course of non-exclusion, I suppose, to that bureau chief. What of its reading matter? First, there is a very oracular and severe article about "Germany's last scheme to write down the American tariff by opening wide the doors to undervaluation," and we are about to report this morning some important information from the secretary of state showing how we have entered into this vile 'scheme' with Germany. The American Economist did not know when it wrote that what the republican administration was going to do. Then the next is, 'The need of ship subsidies:' so that you can tax the farmers, the merchanics, the lawyers, the dentists, the preachers of the country to bolster up the fellow who would rather engage in what he calls the 'unprofitable' industry of shipbuilding than engage in some industry that is profitable. Then there follows the purpose of this newspaper, 'Published weekly by the American Protective Tariff League,' and devoted to a great many purposes of the league that I will not stop to read. This league is a manufacturers' union. But what peculiarly endeared the sheet to that kind of bureau chief is the article over here, the one reciting 'They don't want revision.' I do not know who 'they' are. I have not had time to read it. Another is entitled 'The logic of the situation. To stand pat is a display of wisdom indicated by all the facts.' (Laughter.) Ah, my friend, the speaker smiles when he hears his well-known political doctrines enunciated in such strong phraseology. (Renewed laughter.) And how it should appeal to his heart to approve the merits of this bureau chief and the great wisdom that he has displayed in not having excluded this organ of the manufacturers' union from the mails, although he has made a sacrifice of this little paper, the organ of the farmers' union and devoted to the farmers' interest, and excluded it, although the little paper has one page of advertisements from very humble people, but one page, and the other has four pages from people who have been made rich by wresting the laws of the country to their own purposes. I think it is wonderful they did not reward that paper that helps them to wrest legislation by giving to it sixteen pages of advertisements.

"Mr. Speaker, I say we are becoming a bureaucracy and a government by executive construction. Some fellow in Canada goes to raising frogs legs and he competes with a northeastern frog-leg farmer, and along comes a commission who decides that frog legs are dressed poultry, in order that this beautiful 'government by construction' that we are now carrying on, and chiefly by bureau chiefs and commissioners, may be provided, under the provisions of a republican tariff measure, with a construction, if not law, to protect the American frog-leg raisers. Not long ago I noticed that a lot of these little piano hammers began to come in—little wooden things, with a little piece of felt on the tapping part, that is put there to keep the wood from injuring the string of the piano. And the cry was raised that that was going to injure 'a great American industry,' and as a consequence our beautiful government by construction held them construed to be woolen goods, partially or wholly manufactured. (Laughter and applause.)

"Mr. Speaker, what is the character of authority lodged in this man? If he can arbitrarily exclude one of these papers from the mail on the ground that it is an advertising sheet, should he not exclude the other on exactly the same ground?"

Mr. Smith, of Iowwa: "I want to ask the gentleman if he is not aware that the treasury department has not ruled that frog legs were dressed poultry? Does he not know that the department never so ruled? But under what is known as the 'similitude clause' of the present law, and of many prior laws, it is required that where goods are not on the free list and are partially manufactured, that they shall be rated at the rate imposed on similar articles, and that the department held them to be similar to dressed poultry, but never held them to be dressed poultry?"

Mr. Williams: "Whereupon they ruled them to be similar articles and made them pay the duty imposed on dressed poultry. They did not rule that frog legs were physically dressed poultry, but legally dressed poultry, constructively dressed poultry, tariff-taxed dressed poultry, and taxed the people on them as dressed poultry, and in that far only I am wrong and recede from my exact statement. (Laughter and applause.) How frog legs get to be 'partly manufactured' goods I leave the gentleman from Iowa to explain. On the ground, I suppose, that the legs are 'partly manufactured' frog. By the way, Mr. Speaker, a gentleman makes the suggestion that they made that ruling turning frogs into tariff chickens, although 'there was not a feather on the frog.' I think that ought to go into the Record." (Laughter.)

DELIGHTFUL RECEPTION TENDERED MAJ. SLATON

The seventy-fifth birthday of Major William F. Slaton, long superintendent of the Atlanta public schools, gentleman and scholar, was celebrated yesterday afternoon by a large reception given in the Woman's club rooms by the teachers of the public schools.

Not only did the teachers and children of the Atlanta public schools remember Major Slaton on yesterday, but the whole city extended to him its greetings. So long has Major Slaton been at the head of the local school system tha the has come to be loved as have been few educators in the history of the state. Letters of congratulation poured into Major Slaton's office yesterday from all over the state.

Judge Bleckley's Poem.

Among the distinguished men who congratulated Major Slaton yesterday, was Judge Logan E. Bleckley, whose fame as a poet is nearly as extensive as his reputation as a jurist. Judge Bleckley sent his congratulations in the shape of the following verses:

"Though years three score and ten and five now stamp their antique date on
The life and person of our loved and honored Major Slaton,
He still is active, still is great; still grows he ever greater
As man, as friend, as faithful, wise and zealous educator.
This tribute (brief though it be) is cordial, candid and sincere,
And comes from one who honors him, admiring his career."

At the reception the spacious rooms of the Woman's club were crowded with the numerous friends of Major Slaton as well as many members of the city council, board of education, former boards of education, the board of lady visitors to the schools, the teachers of the Boys' and Girls' High schools, the supervisors of instruction in the various departments of the schools, and the supernumeraries of the schools.

Major Slaton stood in a large open square formed by the central columns of the room, and the principals of all the grammar schools assisted him in receiving.

Beautiful Decorations.

The club rooms were decorated with daffodils mingled with purple violets. These beautiful flowers were sent from Major Slaton's old home in Meriwether county for the purpose of decorating the rooms for the reception.

Around the walls there hung the old flags of the Confederacy under which Major Slaton right gallantly won that honored title of "Major," and the flags of Georgia were also conspicuous. Beautiful palms were also there in profusion and the whole scene was one of charm and beauty.

All in all the reception was in many respects, one of the most remarkable ever held in Atlanta. The honored man of the occasion was a servant of the people. Perhaps he held the highest office in the gift of his fellow townsmen, that of chief instructor of the city's youth. He who stood in the center of that remarkable gathering of people had grown gray in his years of labor for the children of the city, and no wonder that every person in all that gathering looked upon him as he stood there, in admiration and in love.

One of the events of the reception was the presenting to each school principal of a handsome portrait of Major Slaton, to be hung upon the walls of each grammar school.

The notable reception came on an end after delightful refreshments were served.

JOHNSON ISSUES WARNING TO PLANTERS OF COTTON

President M. L. Johnson, of the Georgia division, Southern Cotton Association, issues a note of warning, upon the threshold of the new cotton crop, to the planters and growers who have their own interests, as well as those of their state, at heart.

President Johnson said today:

"Let me warn the cotton planters of Georgia and the south that the cry of large acreage is the weapon with which the cotton bears are today seeking to hammer down the price of the remainder of this season's crop. The bears and the mills are playing this card for all it is worth, but we can, if we will, force the price to fifteen cents by refusing to supply them. But we cannot accomplish this if we continue to supply the mills with cotton from day to day. If this is done put the blame where it belongs, upon those who sell, and not on the Southen Cotton Association.

"Let me again impress upon the farmers of Georgia the importance of diversification. Sit down right now and figure out what corn and hay and meat you will need for the next year and go to work in earnest to raise them. You will find it the best investment you have ever made. Plant in hay and other crops every acre that will not raise at least one-half bale of cotton, for in cotton, you know, it will not pay you.

"Let me warn you against increasing your acreage on the idea that somebody else is going to reduce. The future depends upon you and your individual efforts. Any other policy will mean, perhaps, a twelve million bale crop and six cents a pound with which to pay for $200 and $300 mules. The blame will rest upon you. I wish to issue this note of warning to every Georgian and to appeal to him for his own good, the good of his family and the fireside, for good prices and success depend upon the individual action of each grower. Thus only can we solve the problem. The association will do its part; will you do yours?

M. L. JOHNSON,
President Ga. Div., S. C. A.

ELLEN STONE, THE CAPTIVE, WILL LECTURE IN ATLANTA

Telegraphic information has just reached the city that Ellen Stone, the famous missionary worker who was captured by bandits in Macedonia and held for ransom, is to reach Atlanta some time Friday, and will give three lectures in Atlanta, all illustrated, depicting in horrible yet intensely fascinating detail the terrible experiences through which she passed while in captivity.

The whole world was stirred at the time of her capture, and it was through the efforts of The Christian Herald, of New York, that the $65,000 demanded by the bandits for her release was raised by public subscription and she was liberated.

Liberated.

She has just been in attendance upon the Student Volunteer Movement conference in Nashville, at which 5,000 delegates were in attendance from all parts of the world. Also in attendance upon this conference was Mrs. E. C. Cronk, the wife of the pastor of the English Lutheran church of this city.

During her stay in Nashville Mrs. Cronk learned to know and love the famous woman, and succeeded in getting her to agree to give Atlanta three days of her time before her return to foreign fields.

At the meetings which were conducted in Nashville special details of police had to be on hand to keep the crowds away from the building in which she spoke, so eager were the people to hear her. It is thought that not half those who desired were able to get into the auditoriums during her discourses in Nashville.

Her lecture will be illustrated by the most vivid stereopticon views of the scenes enacted in the land of her bondage. As will be recalled, the bandits slew numbers of persons in her presence in order to terrify her and to make her the more urgent in her appeals to the public to raise the ransom required.

She is a most fluent talker, and has such details of the foreign mission work under her finger tips that the time of her addresses seems by far too short to satisfy her eager audiences.

The story she has to tell also is unique because it seems well nigh incredible that such a thing could happen in this age of the world's history.

She will speak at least twice at the English Lutheran church, these times probably being Friday night and Sunday night.

Sunday afternoon she will deliver an address, fully illustrated, to a general mass meeting at the Tabernacle Baptist church under the auspices of the Tabernacle Bible conference. No admission whatsoever will be charged at any of the meetings held by Mrs. Stone, as they are held in the interest of the cause, and not to make money.

Fuller details of her meetings will be announced after she reaches the city.

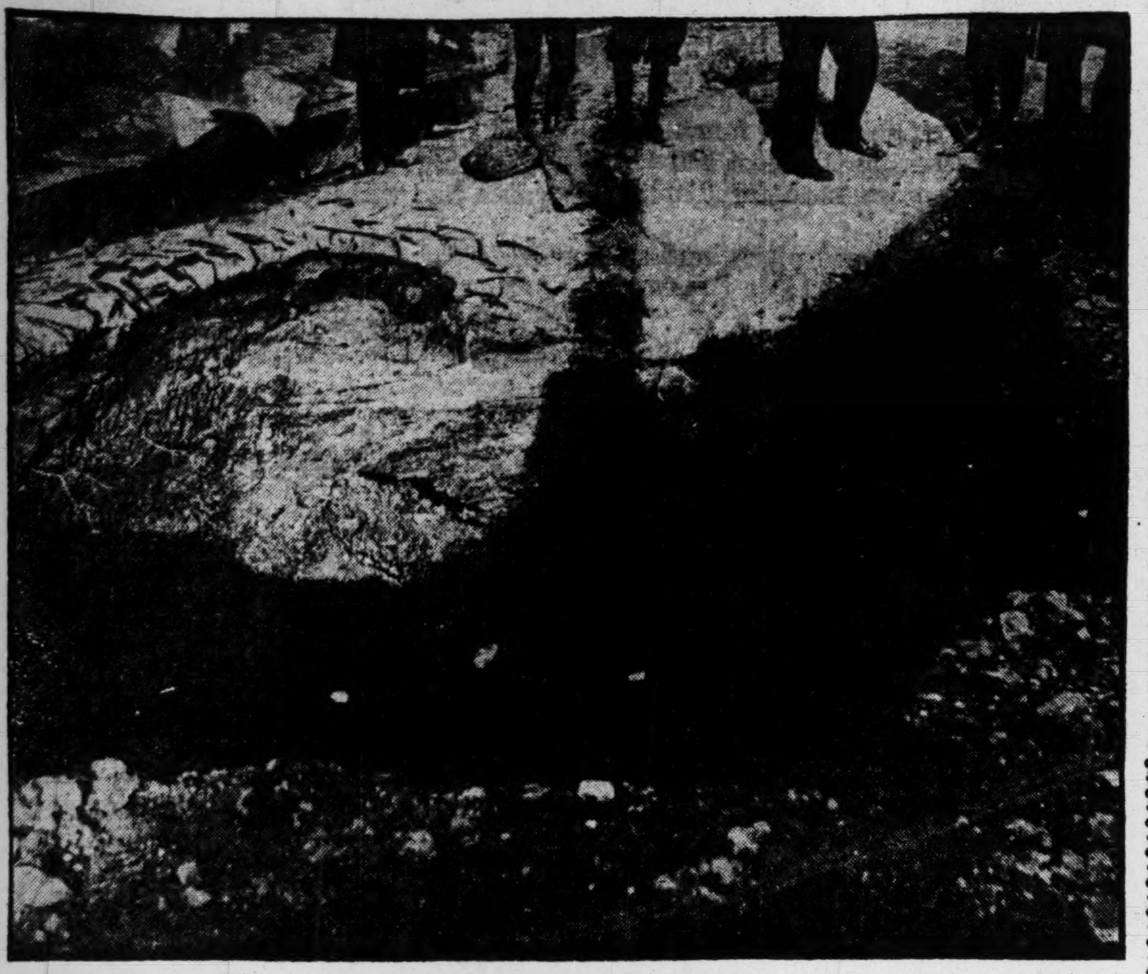
SUDDEN CAVE-IN OF FULTON STREET SWALLOWS UP MAN, HORSE AND WAGON



One End of the Remarkable Cavern Formed by the Collapse of a Part of Fulton Street, Near Pulliam, Yesterday Morning.

A great yawning cave in the middle of a street and a man and a horse struggling at the bottom of the cave-in, while a wrecked wagon, with its load of goods scattered about, lay close by, was a scene that was witnessed by a large number of people yesterday morning in the heart of the city.

A portion of Fulton street, between Pulliam and Washington streets, had suddenly sunk in, while a delivery wagon belonging to the Langford Pressing Club and driven by Frank Westbrook, a negro, was passing over it.

There was a rumbling like the noise of an earthquake and down went the earth from under horse and wagon. The driver was thrown headforemost from the vehicle and also sank into the hole.

The horse struck a section of gas pipe which broke. The escaping gas quickly filled the cavern and the negro began to fight for his life. He succeeded in climbing out after having become almost prostrated.

The horse plunged and kicked to get out of the hole, but the gas soon caused him to die from asphyxiation.

The wagon was almost wrecked, and the contents, consisting of a lot of clothing, was damaged.

The cave was about 12 feet deep and 20 feet square. There was only a thin crust of earth under the horse and wagon when the accident happened. Fifteen feet under the surface a large trunk-line sewer had caved in several months ago and the earth above had gradually crumbled and fallen into the sewer to be washed away. This had gone on until at last the weight of a horse and wagon caused the final collapse.

Nathan Jones, a student at the Southern Medical college, had passed along the street only a few minutes before the earth caved in and he says that he did not detect anything unusual the matter. with the street which appeared to be perfectly sound.

Mr. Conway, proprietor of the pressing club, says that the horse had been recently purchased and was worth $175.

HOTEL IS SUED FOR EJECTMENT

Mrs. F. H. Petty Asks $5,000 Damages Against the Proprietor.

Claiming that she was forced to leave the Gelders hotel, on the corner of Marietta and Broad streets, Mrs. F. H. Petty has filed suit for $5,000 damages against F. O. London, proprietor.

She says that she went to the hotel at 5 o'clock in the afttrnoon, having arrived in Atlanta Monday, February 19, 1906, and was assigned to a room.

The next morning as she was about to go into the dining room for breakfast she was, so she says, informed by the clerk that she would have to leave the hotel. Having secured a room and being satisfied with the location, she says that she refused to vacate, and as a result her trunk was placed on the sidewalk and she was obliged to get out.

She claims to have experienced some difficulty in securing another place, and this combined with the pain and humiliation of the incident, are the causes assigned for the suit.

Mr. London, proprietor, when asked last night about the case, stated that Mrs. Petty was not ejected from the hotel, but that her room was wanted, and that she understood the reason why.

Commissioners Meet Today.

The board of county commissioners will meet in the county commissioners' room this morning. No matters of especial interest are booked for this meeting.

Damage Suit Went to Jury.

The damage suit of Mrs. Grace Mallory against Jack Prince for $15,000 for the death of her husband on the Piedmont bicycle track was completed yesterday and went to the jury.

Petition for Charters.

John B. Brooks and Mrs. M. E. Gillam have asked a charter for the Blood Balm Company, with a capital stock of $25,000, the privilege being asked of increasing this to $500,000.

A petition was filed yesterday asking permission of the superior court to amend the charter recently granted to the Colored Home Improvement Company by changing this name to the Fulton Land and Improvement Company.

Want To Use the Income.

Miss Alline Tolbert and Harry W. Tolbert, minors, by their next friend, M. L. Tolbert, and M. L. olbert, individually, have filed a petition against George C. Drummond and W. C. Tolbert, executors of the estate of M. L. Tolbert, claiming that at present the income from the estate is being used to pay certain incidental expenses, money due to lawyers and $1,100 to Mrs. M. L. Tolbert, while the construction of the will should be interpreted as meaning that these sums are to be paid out of the corpus of the estate.

Judge Pendleton has set March 10 as the day on which the executors are ordered to appear before the court to show cause why the construction of the will should not be interpreted as the petitioners pray.

Says Partner Took Goods.

H. Stone yesterday filed a petition for a receiver for the Reliable Outfitters, now doing business at 127 Whitehall street.

He says that this firm is composed of F. Springer and himself. His partner, according to his statement, has opened another place at 14 West Mitchell street, but the goods, says the petitioner, consist principally of goods taken from 127 Whitehall street, without the permission of petitioner.

H. Stone states that some time ago he broached the subject of the dissolution of the firm to his partner, but that he has refused to consent to the dissolution, although arrangtments had been made to this end.

Judge Pendleton will try the case March 17, until which time F. Springer is enjoined from altering the status of the business, from collecting outstanding accounts, from drawing money from the bank, from making further purchases for the firm and from removing the goods of the firm.

JOS. PRIESTLEY ORME DIES.

Twelve-Year-Old Son of Joseph T. Orme Passes Away.

Joseph Priestley Orme, the 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Orme, died yesterday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock at the home of his parents, 143 East North avenue.

The little boy had been ill for some time. His death comes as a sad blow to his parents. He was the idol of their hearts, and was loved by every member of his family.

The funeral services will be conducted this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the residence. Services will be conducted by Rev. N. S. Farland, pastor of All Saints Episcopal church. The following named gentlemen will be the pallbearers and they will meet at Patterson's at 3 o'clock: Thomas C. Erwin, Thomas Egleston, Frank Orme, W. E. Christian, Aquilla J. Orme and F. L. Dancy.

The interment will be at Oakland.

Ohio at Jamestown.

Columbus, Ohio, March 6.—The house today passed the Yost bill appropriating $50,000 for participating in the Jamestown, Va., ter-centennial.

Notable China

Among the new importations arriving daily are some very charming designs in Coalport. The "Indian Tree," familiar for its odd coloring and quaint motif, is shown in several splendid shapes. "The Bird" and the "Full Blossom" designs—the latter a new and attractive one—are displayed in large variety and are much admired by tasteful buyers.

MUST SUPPORT PARTY NOMINEES

DeKalb Committees Will Exact Pledges from Challenged Voters.

Judge John S. Candler Is Elected Chairman of Mass Meeting Held Yesterday in Decatur. L. B. Norton Chairman of Committee.

Pledges that they will support the democratic nominees will be exacted of every person casting his vote in the DeKalb county primary, under the rules of the new county executive committee adopted yesterday afternoon.

The date for the primary was fixed for April 25, at which time county officers and members of the legislature will be nominated.

The mass meeting which elected the committee adopted a resolution throwing down the bars altogether and denying the right of the state executive committee to fix rules for the state primary. But the new committee, which met immediately, adopted resolutions requiring pledges to support the nominees of the democratic party, which in effect binds those voting to vote as democrats.

The mass meeting which elected the committee was called to order in the court room at Decatur during the noon recess of court. Colonel J. D. Kilpatrick called the meeting to order.

Judge John S. Candler was elected chairman and Howell Green secretary. Hooper Alexander offered the resolutions denying the authority of the state committee. A vigorous debate followed, in which the opposition to the resolutions was led by Colonel Charles W. Smith. They were advocated by the author.

Colonel Smith moved to lay the resolutions on the table. That motion was defeated by a vote of 46 to 28, although there were 130 present. The motion to adopt the resolutions prevailed by practically the same vote.

The resolutions were as follows:

"Resolved by the democrats of DeKalb county, That at such primary elections as are to be held in this county, all registered white voters, without regard to past political affiliations, who are willing to support the nominees of the primary, shall be qualified to vote and are cordially invited to do so.

"Resolved further, That we view with regret the rumors now widely circulated through the state as to some undefined purpose to secure revolutionary changes in the qualifications of voters, or in the basis of representation in the convention, and we respectfully represent to the state executive committee that in our opinion such matters are not within their jurisdiction, but are governable only by a convention of the people to be chosen in like manner and by a like constituency, as in the past.

"Resolved further, That in our opinion, the white people of Georgia want a reunited party, rather than renewed dissension."

The meeting then elected a new county executive committee, one member from each militia district. L. B. Norton, of Lithonia, was named chairman of the committee and C. S. Branyan, of Clarkston, secretary.

Committee Resolutions.

The committee met at once and adopted the following resolutions, requiring the democratic pledge:

"Resolved, That all white voters, without regard to past political affiliations, who will, if their right to participate in said primary be challenged, pledge themselves to support the nominees of the party in the primary, are declared entitled to vote therein."

Overturned Lantern Causes Blaze.

Dawson, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—At 2 o'clock this morning fire partly destroyed the Southern Cotton Oil Company's ginnery, machinery therein and twelve bales of linters. The loss is about fifteen hundred dollars, partly covered by insurance. A negro employee accidentally knocked down a lantern near the entrance and it exploded, igniting the cotton, the flames quickly spreading over the building.

We are using large spaces in the newspapers to interest manufacturers in advertising as a general proposition and in our publications in particular. We are advising those whose business is good and who can hardly take care of present orders to advertise as an insurance against possible disaster in the future.

The fact that we not only advise this course but follow it ourselves may be of interest to the readers of this series of advertisements.

We invariably turn away a large amount of advertising because all available space has been taken. We have no means of knowing but that this situation would continue indefinitely, but we have no insurance to that effect.

Consequently, we adopt our present course and spend money freely in interesting manufacturers and others in advertising, and in our publications, thus building for the future instead of leaving anything to luck. We heartily advise you to do the same thing.

FASTENED ROPE AND JUMPED OFF

Newton Richardson, of Cherokee, Yesterday Took His Life.

Canton, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—M. Newton Richardson, of near Hickory Flat, in this county, committed suicide this morning by hanging himself.

Mr. Richardson was plowing in a field near his home when he was seen to leave the mule in the field, take a rope and go to an outhouse on the place. His prolonged stay in the house caused members of his family to make an investigation, and his dead body was found swinging from a joist.

He had apparently tied the rope about his neck, climbed upon the joist and jumped off. His toes barely touched the floor.

No definite cause for his act is known, but it is supposed to have been the result of worry concerning the delay in securing papers to land which he desired to purchase.

He leaves a wife and several children.

PERSONALS.

Mr. James N. Johns, who for the last fifteen years has been one of the mainstays of the carpet department of the J. M. High Company, is now the "Johns" of the J. W. Otto & Johns Company, interior decorators and painters.

DEFEATED SAY J. L. KEY DID IT

Civil Service Surprise Still Source of Comment.

Alderman Key Says He Did Not Execute and Carry Out Coup, but Doesn't Deny That He Planned It.

The man who engineered the plan by which the police department was suddenly and surprisingly given civil service is said to have been Alderman James L. Key. In fact, the alderman is now being referred to as Atlanta's Napoleon of police, as moneyed men are sometimes called Napoleons of finance.

There was a battle on, a legal battle which had its opposing sides in the police board and the city council. The side that did not want civil service until next year was in the majority. Alderman Key led the minority and he had finesse. He began to yield gracefully and most willingly. The civil service ordinance was passed. It was believed by those who did not want civil service just at this time that failure of a number of policemen to resign would bar any immediate action on the part of the board. The mayor signed the ordinance Monday morning. No sooner had it become a law than the police board was called hurriedly together. Alderman Key, it is said, was directing the movement. He feared an injunction suit and he kept everything remarkably quiet. Then came to the final blow, and the civil service was rushed into the police department like a whirlwind into a tunnel.

If the members of council who wanted civil service at a later day had only postponed action until the new board was sworn in all would have been well for them; but, alas, they seem to have been caught napping. But, it is said, they will be wide-awake again this afternoon when council meets. The report was out yesterday that a member of council had prepared a set of red hot resolutions, severely condemning the police board for what is termed its unlawful and unwarranted action, declaring what the board had done was null and void, and authorizing the new board to ignore such action on the part of the old board. If such a resolution is passed, the mayor will, of course, veto it. Then it will go back to council and its friends claim they have seventeen votes for it, which will be enough to override the veto.

What New Board May Do.

If council fails to tear down the civil service castle builded by the old board, the new board next year, it is said, will go ahead and hold an election just as if the old board had never thought of civil service. If this is done, Alderman Key's forces will appeal to the courts with a bill of injunction.

The views of Alderman Key are decidedly interesting at this stage of the fight. When asked yesterday if he had not engineered the coup d'etat by which civil service was sprung on the town, he replied:

"I am not a member of the police board and did not execute or carry out the measure. It is true that I fought most vigorously to expedite civil service. I knew that one of the new commissioners, Captain English, from his record had always been hostile to civil service. When the civil service rules were passed I knew that the present board would put into execution the civil service plan at once, and I fought to give the old board a chance to do so."

Alderman Key's "did not execute and carry out" were suggestive and he was asked if he did not originate the plan. He did not answer, and when he was told that many people believed he was the Napoleon that outlined the civil service business he laughed heartily and still made no reply.

When informed that perhaps the council and the new police board would attack the action of the old board, and, perhaps, ignore it, the alderman became very earnest when he said:

"The police department wants civil service, the public wants civil service, and they have got it. The man who by his efforts as an official attempts to inject discord and disorganization into the police department will be held strictly to account by the people. And I intend to be on hand to see that they are held to account."

The Legal Status.

After a few moments of silence, Alderman Key said:

"That other side will do nothing—they can do nothing. This talk about what the city attorney has said does not amount to anything. It is simply the legal opinion of one lawyer. I think the city attorney is wrong when he says that the action of the police board is illegal. Whether or not sixteen or twenty men failing to resign was sufficient to prevent civil service going into effect was a mixed question of law and fact, and the board was the best judge of that. When the board decided that they had a legal right to proceed and instituted civil service into the department that ended the matter. The last act has been played. There is nothing more to it."

"You see," he continued, "Captain English and those with him want civil service when they can get things fixed their way. We want it now because we believe this is as good a time as any to give the city what it has long needed."

Since Chairman Nunnally, of the police board, has said that he had the fire chief to ring the riot call just to "test" the members of the force, officials have pulled out their rule books and shown that the call that Chairman Nunnally had rung was not the riot call. If this is true, the "test" was not a good one. The riot call on the fire bell is fifteen taps repeated. Ten taps, which Chairman Nunnally had rung, is to call to the police barracks the officers who are not on duty.

What Effect Will Be.

There is some speculation as to what effect the action of the board is going to have on the deparment. There will be no immediate effect, for all the men had been elected for two years and had one more year to serve.

Under the civil service charter amendment, the police board will have the power and authority to drop any member of the force, and when a member is dropped he has no appeal, and cannot even sue in the courts. Inefficiency is cause for dismissal, and it is being claimed by opponents of the measure that it will be easy to get rid of an officer if he becomes distasteful to the board. In other words, it will be easier to drop a man from the force under civil service rules than under the old regime.

The next chapter in this turbulent history of Atlanta police affairs will be recorded in the city council this afternoon. Red hot resolutions and warm speeches are looked for. Alderman Key has promised to be on hand with a lot of hot shot.

The chapter after this will occur when the police board meets and organizes next Monday night. Those who have been watching the trend of police affairs recently do not think the board meeting will be as quiet as a Sunday school or as cold as an Esquimau convention.

NEGRO WORKED A RUSE.

But After Escaping He Was Again Captured.

Cordele, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—On board the Atlantic and Birmingham train arriving here last night were Deputy Sheriff Mathis, of Ware county, who had in charge a negro man that he was carrying to the state asylum at Milledgeville. On arrival here the officer purchased a lunch and gave it to the negro. The negro complaining that he could not eat on account of the handcuffs, the deputy sheriff released the negro's left hand and no sooner than he did the negro struck the officer over the head and jumping from the train made his escape, but this morning Policeman Couch arrested him and placed him in jail.

Counterfeit Dollars Found.

Asheville, N. C., March 6.—(Special.)—While the work of demolishing the old Buck hotel building was in progress today, a package of counterfeit silver dollars was unearthed from a recess in the wall behind a chimney, where they had undoubtedly been concealed a number of years ago. There were almost one hundred of these coins, each counterfeit being carefully wrapped in a piece of tissue paper. The imitations, thouh well executed and of good color, were lighter than the real article. They bore the date of 1896.

GAMES FOR PRI NOT GAMBLING

Judge Adams Defends Women Who Play Cards.

In Answer to Charge Made by Rev. Mr. McCorkle, of Savannah, Former Justice of Supreme Court Writes a Vigorous Card.

Savannah, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—Judge Samuel B. Adams, formerly of the supreme court of Georgia, denies most strenuously the allegation that ladies and children who meet at the homes of a host or hostess and play for prizes offered by the one giving the party are guilty of gambling. He makes the denial in The Morning News in answer to a sermon that was preached Sunday night by Rev. W. P. McCorkle pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

Adams Answers Preacher.

Judge Adams says, in part:

"The charge that prominent citizens permit their wives and daughters to violate the laws of the land is a serious one and ought not to be made unless fully sustained by the law and the facts. Mr. McCorkle seems confident that whenever people play for a prize they are gambling, are law-breakers, and says this is the opinion, not of cranks and fanatics and preachers, but of learned jurists, construing the laws of our Christian commonwealth. While I am sure Mr. McCorkle is perfectly honest and sincere, he is yet very much mistaken, and he would find it difficult to mention any jurist or court that has ever held that because a prize is offered and obtained by the successful contestant in a game of cards the people payling are guilty of gambling.

Such Judge Not a Jurist.

"I have read once or twice in some newspaper that a judge of a superior court in Georgia has so charged a grand jury. If a judge has so charged, he was not a jurist. If the players, instead of playing against each other for money, do this for a prize purchased by their money, they are guilty of gambling. But if the lady of the house offers to her guests a prize in a card party, a prize to the purchase of which these players have contributed nothing, they are no more guilty of gambling than if they were in a spelling bee or a foot-race in which a prize was offered to the successful contestant."

Judge Adams states that he is not defending card parties, but that he does not believe they constitute gambling.

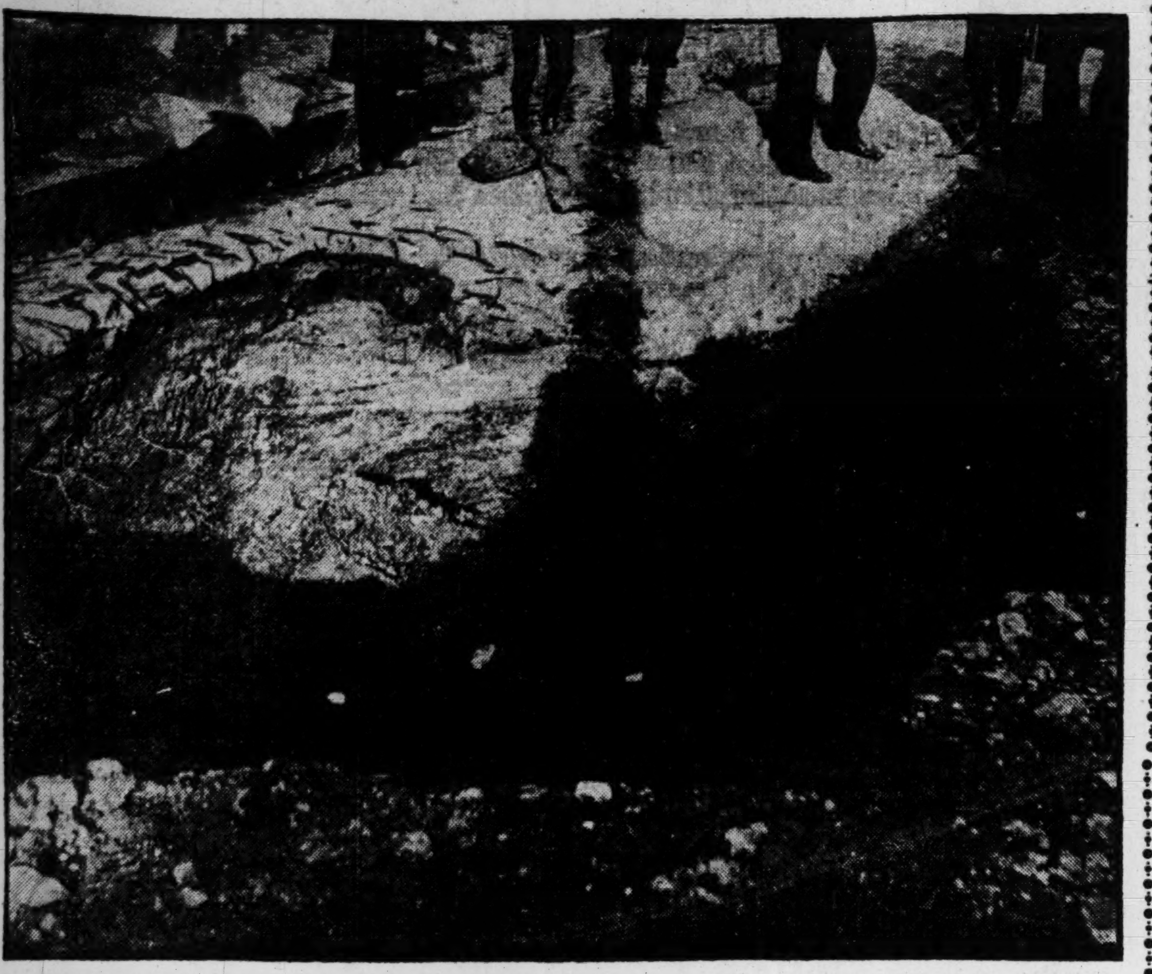
SUDDEN CAVE-IN OF FULTON STREET SWALLOWS UP MAN, HORSE AND WAGON



One End of the Remarkable Cavern Formed by the Collapse of a Part of Fulton Street, Near Pulliam, Yesterday Morning.

A great yawning cave in the middle of a street and a man and a horse struggling at the bottom of the cave-in, while a wrecked wagon, with its load of goods scattered about, lay close by, was a scene that was witnessed by a large number of people yesterday morning in the heart of the city.

A portion of Fulton street, between Pulliam and Washington streets, had suddenly sunk in, while a delivery wagon belonging to the Langford Pressing Club and driven by Frank Westbrook, a negro, was passing over it.

There was a rumbling like the noise of an earthquake and down went the earth from under horse and wagon. The driver was thrown headforemost from the vehicle and also sank into the hole.

The horse struck a section of gas pipe which broke. The escaping gas quickly filled the cavern and the negro began to fight for his life. He succeeded in climbing out after having become almost prostrated.

The horse plunged and kicked to get out of the hole, but the gas soon caused him to die from asphyxiation.

The wagon was almost wrecked, and the contents, consisting of a lot of clothing, was damaged.

The cave was about 12 feet deep and 20 feet square. There was only a thin crust of earth under the horse and wagon when the accident happened. Fifteen feet under the surface a large trunk-line sewer had caved in several months ago and the earth above had gradually crumbled and fallen into the sewer to be washed away. This had gone on until at last the weight of a horse and wagon caused the final collapse.

Nathan Jones, a student at the Southern Medical college, had passed along the street only a few minutes before the earth caved in and he says that he did not detect anything unusual the matter with the street which appeared to be perfectly sound.

Mr. Conway, proprietor of the pressing club, says that the horse had been recently purchased and was worth $175.

HOTEL IS SUED FOR EJECTMENT

Mrs. F. H. Petty Asks $5,000 Damages Against the Proprietor.

Claiming that she was forced to leave the Gelders hotel, on the corner of Marietta and Broad streets, Mrs. F. H. Petty has filed suit for $5,000 damages against F. O. London, proprietor.

She says that she went to the hotel at 5 o'clock in the afttrnoon, having arrived in Atlanta Monday, February 19, 1906, and was assigned to a room.

The next morning as she was about to go into the dining room for breakfast she was, so she says, informed by the clerk that she would have to leave the hotel. Having secured a room and being satisfied with the location, she says that she refused to vacate, and as a result her trunk was placed on the sidewalk and she was obliged to get out.

She claims to have experienced some difficulty in securing another place, and this combined with the pain and humiliation of the incident, are the causes assigned for the suit.

Mr. London, proprietor, when asked last night about the case, stated that Mrs. Petty was not ejected from the hotel, but that her room was wanted, and that she understood the reason why.

Commissioners Meet Today.

The board of county commissioners will meet in the county commissioners' room this morning. No matters of especial interest are booked for this meeting.

FASTENED ROPE AND JUMPED OFF

Newton Richardson, of Cherokee, Yesterday Took His Life.

Canton, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—M. Newton Richardson, of near Hickory Flat, in this county, committed suicide this morning by hanging himself.

Mr. Richardson was plowing in a field near his home when he was seen to leave the mule in the field, take a rope and go to an outhouse on the place. His prolonged stay in the house caused members of his family to make an investigation, and his dead body was found swinging from a joist.

He had apparently tied the rope about his neck, climbed upon the joist and jumped off. His toes barely touched the floor.

No definite cause for his act is known, but it is supposed to have been the result of worry concerning the delay in securing papers to land which he desired to purchase.

He leaves a wife and several children.

PERSONALS.

DEFEATED SAY J. L. KEY DID IT

Civil Service Surprise Still Source of Comment.

Alderman Key Says He Did Not Execute and Carry Out Coup, but Doesn't Deny That He Planned It.

The man who engineered the plan by which the police department was suddenly and surprisingly given civil service is said to have been Alderman James L. Key. In fact, the alderman is now being referred to as Atlanta's Napoleon of police, as moneyed men are sometimes called Napoleons of finance.

There was a battle on, a legal battle which had its opposing sides in the police board and the city council. The side that did not want civil service until next year was in the majority. Alderman Key led the minority and he had finesse. He began to yield gracefully and most willingly. The civil service ordinance was passed. It was believed by those who did not want civil service just at this time that failure of a number of policemen to resign would bar any immediate action on the part of the board. The mayor signed the ordinance Monday morning. No sooner had it become a law than the police board was called hurriedly together. Alderman Key, it is said, was directing the movement. He feared an injunction suit and he kept everything remarkably quiet. Then came to the final blow, and the civil service was rushed into the police department like a whirlwind into a tunnel.

If the members of council who wanted civil service at a later day had only postponed action until the new board was sworn in all would have been well for them; but, alas, they seem to have been caught napping. But, it is said, they will be wide-awake again this afternoon when council meets. The report was out yesterday that a member of council had prepared a set of red hot resolutions, severely condemning the police board for what is termed its unlawful and unwarranted action, declaring what the board had done was null and void, and authorizing the new board to ignore such action on the part of the old board. If such a resolution is passed, the mayor will, of course, veto it. Then it will go back to council and its friends claim they have seventeen votes for it, which will be enough to override the veto.

What New Board May Do.

If council fails to tear down the civil service castle builded by the old board, the new board next year, it is said, will go ahead and hold an election just as if the old board had never thought of civil service. If this is done, Alderman Key's forces will appeal to the courts with a bill of injunction.

The views of Alderman Key are decidedly interesting at this stage of the fight. When asked yesterday if he had not engineered the coup d'etat by which civil service was sprung on the town, he replied:

"I am not a member of the police board and did not execute or carry out the measure. It is true that I fought most vigorously to expedite civil service. I knew that one of the new commissioners, Captain English, from his record had always been hostile to civil service. When the civil service rules were passed I knew that the present board would put into execution the civil service plan at once, and I fought to give the old board a chance to do so."

Alderman Key's "did not execute and carry out" were suggestive and he was asked if he did not originate the plan. He did not answer, and when he was told that many people believed he was the Napoleon that outlined the civil service business he laughed heartily and still made no reply.

When informed that perhaps the council and the new police board would attack the action of the old board, and, perhaps, ignore it, the alderman became very earnest when he said:

"The police department wants civil service, the public wants civil service, and they have got it. The man who by his efforts as an official attempts to inject discord and disorganization into the police department will be held strictly to account by the people. And I intend to be on hand to see that they are held to account."

The Legal Status.

After a few moments of silence, Alderman Key said:

"That other side will do nothing—they can do nothing. This talk about what the city attorney has said does not amount to anything. It is simply the legal opinion of one lawyer. I think the city attorney is wrong when he says that the action of the police board is illegal. Whether or not sixteen or twenty men failing to resign was sufficient to prevent civil service going into effect was a mixed question of law and fact, and the board was the best judge of that. When the board decided that they had a legal right to proceed and instituted civil service into the department that ended the matter. The last act has been played. There is nothing more to it."

"You see," he continued, "Captain English and those with him want civil service when they can get things fixed their way. We want it now because we believe this is as good a time as any to give the city what it has long needed."

Since Chairman Nunnally, of the police board, has said that he had the fire chief to ring the riot call just to "test" the members of the force, officials have pulled out their rule books and shown that the call that Chairman Nunnally had rung was not the riot call. If this is true, the "test" was not a good one. The riot call on the fire bell is fifteen taps repeated. Ten taps, which Chairman Nunnally had rung, is to call to the police barracks the officers who are not on duty.

What Effect Will Be.

There is some speculation as to what effect the action of the board is going to have on the department. There will be no immediate effect, for all the men had been elected for two years and had one more year to serve.

Under the civil service charter amendment, the police board will have the power and authority to drop any member of the force, and when a member is dropped he has no appeal, and cannot even sue in the courts. Inefficiency is cause for dismissal, and it is being claimed by opponents of the measure that it will be easy to get rid of an officer if he becomes distasteful to the board. In other words, it will be easier to drop a man from the force under civil service rules than under the old regime.

The next chapter in this turbulent history of Atlanta police affairs will be recorded in the city council this afternoon. Red hot resolutions and warm speeches are looked for. Alderman Key has promised to [illegible] on hand with a lot of hot shot.

The chapter after this will occur when the police board meets and organizes next Monday night. Those who have been watching the trend of police affairs recently do not think the board meeting will be as quiet as a Sunday school or as cold as an Esquimau convention.

NEGRO WORKED A RUSE.

But After Escaping He Was Again Captured.

Cordele, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—On board the Atlantic and Birmingham train arriving here last night were Deputy Sheriff Mathis, of Ware county, who had in charge a negro man that he was carrying to the state asylum at Milledgeville. On arrival here the officer purchased a lunch and gave it to the negro. The negro complaining that he could not eat on account of the handcuffs, the deputy sheriff released the negro's left hand and no sooner than he did the negro struck the officer over the head and jumping from the train made his escape, but this morning Policeman Couch arrested him and placed him in jail.

Counterfeit Dollars Found.

Asheville, N. C., March 6.—(Special.)—While the work of demolishing the old Buck hotel building was in progress today, a package of counterfeit silver dollars was unearthed from a recess in the wall behind a chimney, where they had undoubtedly been concealed a number of years ago. There were almost one hundred of these coins, each counterfeit being carefully wrapped in a piece of tissue paper. The imitations, thouh well executed and of good color, were lighter than the real article. They bore the date of 1896.

GAMES FOR PRIZES NOT GAMBLING

Judge Adams Defends Women Who Play Cards.

In Answer to Charge Made by Rev. Mr. McCorkle, of Savannah, Former Justice of Supreme Court Writes a Vigorous Card.

Savannah, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—Judge Samuel B. Adams, formerly of the supreme court of Georgia, denies most strenuously the allegation that ladies and children who meet at the homes of a host or hostess and play for prizes offered by the one giving the party are guilty of gambling. He makes the denial in The Morning News in answer to a sermon that was preached Sunday night by Rev. W. P. McCorkle pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

Adams Answers Preacher.

Judge Adams says, in part:

"The charge that prominent citizens permit their wives and daughters to violate the laws of the land is a serious one and ought not to be made unless fully sustained by the law and the facts. Mr. McCorkle seems confident that whenever people play for a prize they are gambling, are law-breakers, and says this is the opinion, not of cranks and fanatics and preachers, but of learned jurists, construing the laws of our Christian commonwealth. While I am sure Mr. McCorkle is perfectly honest and sincere, he is yet very much mistaken, and he would find it difficult to mention any jurist or court that has ever held that because a prize is offered and obtained by the successful contestant in a game of cards the people paylng are guilty of gambling.

Such Judge Not a Jurist.

"I have read once or twice in some newspaper that a judge of a superior court in Georgia has so charged a grand jury. If a judge has so charged, he was not a jurist. If the players, instead of playing against each other for money, do this for a prize purchased by their money, they are guilty of gambling. But if the lady of the house offers to her guests a prize in a card party, a prize to the purchase of which these players have contributed nothing, they are no more guilty of gambling than if they were in a spelling bee or a foot-race in which a prize was offered to the successful contestant."

Judge Adams states that he is not defending card parties, but that he does not believe they constitute gambling.

SOCIETY

To Mr. and Mrs. Smith.

MR. AND MRS. HENRY S. JACKSON entertained informally at dinner last night at their home on Peachtree street, and the occasion was a delightful one in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. George C. Smith, who are spending a few days with them. The table was beautiful in its rich appointments and in artistic decorations, combining the colors, pink and white. Carnations formed the showing centerpiece, the candelabra were shaded in pink and the table dainties were in pink and white.

The party included Mr. and Mrs. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Slaton, Dr. and Mrs. Floyd McRae.

Miss Brown's Musical.

MISS GRACE LEE BROWN will entertain this afternoon from 4:30 until 6 o'clock at the Atlanta Woman's Club and the affair will combine as delightfully as the hostess does in her own personality a musical and a social side.

The reception is primarily to her pupils, but she has invited other guests besides, so that the gathering will number probably one hundred, and a group of her advanced pupils will contribute with the First Methodist church choir, of which Miss Brown is the suprano member, to an attractive programme of songs.

The choir, which includes Miss Brown, Mrs. J. W. Lee, Mr. Lowry Dole, and Mr. Prestman Hunter, will sing Foote's "Still, Still with Thee;" Mr. W. T. Tabor, the organist, playinf the accompaniment.

The other singers will be Miss Mary Carson, Miss Maud Haverty, Miss Ethel Jones, Miss Gussie May Brantley, Miss Thornwell Gamble, Mrs. J. Fowler Richardson, Miss Mary Bostrom, Miss Nellie Beatty and Dr. Zoepffel-Quellenstein.

To Miss Boynton.

MISS AUGUSTA GARRETT will entertain informally at 3 o'clock tea on Friday in compliment to Miss Martha Boynton, who leaves on Monday for a visit of several months in Japan. Twelve of Miss Boynton's intimate friends will be invited to call.

Wm. Carl in Recital.

AN artistic event of distinction on Thursday night will be an organ recital by Mr. William Carl, of New York, at the North avenue Presbyterian church.

This will be the fifth in the winter series of subscription concerts under the auspices of Agnes Scott Institute, and the public is invited.

The purpose of the concert series is educational and they are intended to benefit all those who are interested in music. Hitherto an admission has been charged, however, for expenses, but on account of a custom to the contrary in the North Avenue church and also in order that all those Atlanta people who care to benefit by the performance may be at liberty to do so, the doors will be open to all who attend.

Mr. Carl is an artist too well known to those who are conversant with current musical affairs to need introduction. As a director of the Guilmant organ school in New York he is a conspicuous figure in the world of music, and his work is quite as familiar as a concert artist of the highest rank. His programme on Thursday will be one of profound interest and it will possibly include some of his own transcriptions on the music of Japan, which he has known at first hand, having recently returned from a tour of the far east.

Mrs. Felton's Address.

AN event of broad interest will be Mrs. William H. Felton's address before the Atlanta chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, at their regular meeting on Thursday afternoon at 3:30.

Mrs. Felton's distinction, which is national in scope, depends in no small degree on her force as a speaker, since she has always something original to say and an individual way of saying it. Her subject on Thursday will be "Reminiscences of the War," and it is safe to predict that her treatment of the subject will be well worth hearing. Her friends and all daughters are cordially invited to be present.

Ballerstein-Wise.

MR. AND MRS. B. BALLERSTEIN, of Hartford, Conn., announce the engagement of their daughter, Evelyn, to Mr. H. Joseph Wise, of Thomasville, Ga.

Y. W. C. A. Leader in Atlanta.

MRS. GEORGE ATKINSON, of Monroe, N. C., who was Miss Frances Bridges, was in the city yesterday on her way home from Nashville, where she attended the "student volunteer" convention. She addressed the meeting yesterday morning of the executive committee, gulf states division, Young Women's Christian Association, at the home of Mrs. A. McD. Wilson, chairman, describing the enthusiasm and achievement of the volunteer movement as exposed at the convention. Her talk, informal as it was, secured the profound attention due not alone to the interest in her subject, but to the force of her voice and personality, which have made her a leader in Young Women's Christian Association work and kindred forms of organized effort.

Meetings.

The Atlanta Woman's Missionary Association will hold its regular monthly meeting in the parlors of the Young Women's Christian Association, Emery-Steiner building, Wednesday, March 7, at 10:30 a. m.

CARNES-SHIPP.

Acworth, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Carnes to Mr. Theodore Shipp occurred at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. It was quite a social event. A large number of relatives and friends were invited. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. B. Searight, of the Presbyterian church. After the ceremony the happy couple left for their home 6 miles south of Acworth, where Mr. Shipp has a large country store.

THEATERS.

The Grand.

Although Alice Nielsen will appear here tonight and Thursday at the Grand, in Donizetti's comedy opera, "Don Pasquale," it is so far removed from the conventional comic opera roles she previously essayed in this country, one may say that it belongs almost exclusively to the school of grand opera artistes. The story of how Miss Nielsen gave up one of the most lucrative positions on the light opera stage at the height of a most successful season in London is certainly interesting.

"Nearly every one had been calling me a fool all along for leaving comic opera," she said. "I was playing in 'The Fortune Teller,' at the Shaftesbury theater, when the London critics awakened an old longing in me by saying that my voice was capable of better things. My voice was in anything but good condition at the time, for the reason that the dancing I was obliged to do was taking my strength. I was almost discouraged when a friend advised me to see Mr. Henry Russell, who was the talk of London at the time because of his having restored Duse's golden voice. I had no desire to do anything but rest, but I did see him and sing for him finally, with the result that he persuaded me to give up comic opera and go to Italy to study. After a year I sang in concert in London and in Italy, and finally had my opportunity in 'Faust.' It was very hard work and very small pay at first. I've often sat in my dressing room and laughed at my magnificent salary of 45 francs. But to have the Italians like me was worth more than anything else. The day after my Naples debut a newsboy ran up to me in the street and, giving me a paper, cried, 'La Belle Americana!' Smiles had taken the place of tears. It had been worth while after all. Next year I sang in 'Traviata' at the great San Carlo opera house, in Naples, and ater that in London."

The advance sale of seats for the appearance in this city of E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe as joint stars in "The Taming of the Shrew," "The Merchant of Venice" and "Romeo and Juliet" will open at the box office of the Grand this morning at 9 o'clock.

Mr. Sothern and Miss Marlowe are now in their second season under the direction of Charles Frohman, and that manager has adhered to his original intention of confining them solely to Shakespearian productions. His prediction that there is an immense public eager for these presentations of classic art was thoroughly demonstrated last season when the success of "Hamlet," "Romeo and Juliet" and "Much Ada About Nothing" was phenomenal. No such performances, it was unanimously agreed, had been witnessed since the days of Booth and Barrett joint-starring tours. Mr. Sothern and Miss Marlowe have proved themselves artists of the very finest caliber. Their fresh impersonations will therefore be awaited with keen interest. The productions of the plays will be on the scale of elaborate richness. Mr. Sothern, it ought to be mentioned, is now making his first appearances as Petruchio and Shylock, and Miss Marlowe is also being seen for the first time as Katherine and Portia. The revival of "Romeo and Juliet" will be eagerly welcomed by playgoers.

The Bijou.

Mary Marble is holding receptions this week, and she is being ably assisted by talented associates. The Bijou is the place of reception, and all Atlanta seems to be crowding, to get in on one of the meets.

The return of the popular star, with "Nancy Brown," the bill of entertainment, has more than excited regular theater goers, and those who do not often visit the places of amusement. It is the star event of the Bijou season, and the return of the little favorite will be one of the red letter events in the chapters of local theatrical history.

"Nancy Brown" is a high class musical comedy. It does not possess the usual "slap-stick" comedy features of most of the popular musical offerings, but its real comedy ability, its funny lines, and its delighting music, makes nothing wanting in the wishes for entertainment. And the popularity of the star is a magnet that is all powerful.

The attendance at the matinee and evening performances yesterday, made the prettiest pictures one would care to look at. The theater was crowded at both performances, and there was nothing but happiness on both sides of the glittering footlights.

Miss Marble is singing two or three original songs, and "Lovey Dovey" is without doubt her greatest success, even counting the days when Max Hoffman, wrote song hits to suit a situation. This new number has won encore after encore, and almost breaks up the show. The principals with Miss Marble are all clever, while the chorus is one of the strong features o fthe attraction.

There is a lively demand for the seats for the remaining performances.

Bernhardt Coming.

Manager Anderson, of the Auditorium, receives inquiries constantly from out-of-town regarding the locations of choice seats. One school in Atlanta has reserved thirty three-dollar seats for pupils desirous of studying dramatic and faciol expression, Louis W. Buckley, who is manager of the local interests throughout this southern tour of Madame Bernhardt, is in receipt of a telegram from William F. Connor, director of the entire American season, stating that Sarah Bernhardt played to $10,000 at one performance at Kansas City, this being the world's record for dramatic productions. Madame Bernhardt will arrive in Atlanta from Chattanooga. Her itinerary in the south is arranged by Mr. Buckley, as follows: After playing Nashville, Asheville and Charleston, she begins her second week in the south, Monday, the 12th, in Savannah; Tuesday night she will be in Tampa, at the Tampa Bay Casino; Wednesday, the 14th, in Jacksonville; the 15th in Augusta; that night she will pass through Atlanta on her way to Chattanooga, where she will appear in the auditorium owned by the city on the 16th, coming from thence to Atlanta, where she will arrive about noon Saturday. After her engagement here Madame Bernhardt plays for one week in New Orleans, and then starts in on her famous trip through Texas and Oklahoma, appearing in a specially made and constructed circus tent. During her stay in Atlanta she will occupy her private car, Sarah Bernhardt.

Star Theater.

Lovers of vaudeville will be pleased with the bill at the Star theater for this week. The opening number is a musical comedy burlesque entitled, "Out on a Lark," which is very good, but the real pleasing features are the vaudeville numbers. New moving pictures and illustrated songs. Matinee today.

JUNG INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

Is Accused of Perjury in the Case of Lum Wo.

The grand jury at its session yesterday morning opened up a new chapter in the case of Lum Wo by indicting Joe Jung on a charge of perjuring himself in a recent phase of Wo's woes.

Joe Jung some time ago accused Lum of selling him poisoned whisky in order to bring about his death. The matter was investigated by Recorder Broyles, who decided that the evidence was insufficient, and dismissed the case.

In retaliation, Lum Wo made the charge against his accuser of perjury. Joe Jung is still locked up in the Tower awaiting his trial, while Lum is allowed to go about his business, being reqired to report at police station every now and then just to show that he has not skipped.

The grand jury passed a busy day, returning fifty-one true bills and seven no bills. The body then adjourned subject to call from the solicitor.

ASSOCIATED PRESS PRAISED.

Father Healey Says People Believe What Press Says.

Mobile, Ala., March 6.—Rev. Father Healey, of the Paulist Order, who, with Father O'Hern, is conducting a mission at the cathedral here, addressed 2,000 persons last night on the subject of faith. To illustrate his subject Father Healey singled out the Associated Press, citing the news-gathering organization as the medium that furnished the news of the world in correct shape. He outlined in a general way the working of the Associated Press, said that it was through this agency that the only correct reports of the war between Japan and Russia were received and that in many other instances its reliability and accuracy had been tested and not found wanting.

Continuing, he said: "It has reached the point now that when you see the words, 'by the Associated Press,' you know that you are reading the truth and you have faith; you believe in it."

Sparta Bonds Are Sold.

OLDEST GEORGIA SHERIFF FROM POINT OF SERVICE

ALBANY, GA., March 6.—(Special.)—On next Saturday, the 10th inst., Sheriff F. G. Edwards will celebrate the completion of thirty-one years of continuous service in his present office.

In some respects he is one of the most remarkable officers in Georgia. He is, so far as he is informed, the oldest sheriff, in point of service, in the state, and has a clean record as a faithful public servant.

For three years after he entered the office of sheriff of Doughtery county, Sheriff Edwards was deputy sheriff under the then incumbent, but twenty-eight years ago he was himself elected to the office, and has since held it without interruption.

Repeated attempts have been made to wrest the office from its present holder, but of late years they have been infrequent. Never has an opponent given him serious trouble at the polls, most of his voctories having been such walkovers as are seldom witnessed in Georgia.

In spite of his long service, Sheriff Edwards is only 57 years of age, and the indications, judging from his physical appearance and the sentiment of thepeople of the county, are that he will be in harness for many years to come. He has made thousands of arrests during the thirty-one years of his service, but has never received so much as a scratch at the hands of a refractory prisoner. And, although he is not a large man physically, he has a record of never having lost a prisoner on whom he had once laid hands. During the first year of his service, he shot several men, but in the last thirty years has neither killed nor seriously injured another. His mettle was early proved, and has not been forgotten.

Sheriff Edwards rarely leaves the county. Evil doers call him "Johnny on the spot," and when he goes away from home it is to return with a prisoner.

TWO ARE HELD FOR ROBBERY

Charged That White and Hill Robbed Nicholls Postoffice.

Brunswick, Ga., March 6.—(Speuial.)—An unusual case was heard before United States Commissioner H. F. Dunwoody in this city today. It was that against three parties, Walter H. White, his wife, Lizzie White, and Wm. D. Hill, all white people, of Nicholls, Coffee county, who are charged with robbing the postoffice at that place. They did not only take all the money, stamps, and other valuables available, it is charged, but carried the iron safe from the building and it has not yet been found.

The three prisoners, who were arrested Saturday, were brought here by United States Marshals Joseph F. Doyle and J. Ben Wilson and Postoffice Inspector E. D. Beatty, who were accompanied by a number of witnesses.

The three defendants were not represented by attorney and did not make any statements, claiming that none of their witnesses were present.

On the part of the government four or five witnesses were introduced, among them Postmaster Meeks, Statem Smith, Chief of Police Nicholls, and one or two others. The most damaging evidence introduced against the defendants was that White, one of those charged with the robbery, attempted to bribe J. T. Starr, a saw mill man at Nicholls. He wanted Starr to swear that he was at his, Starr's, house on the night the postoffice was robbed, so that he could establish an alibi. He then offered to give Starr a certain sum of money if he would so swear. Starr was present at the committment trial and testified that White did make him such a proposition, and that he said he would have to think over it.

After hearing the evidence of a number of other witnesses Commissioner Dunwoody bound the two men over under a bond of $200 each. There was no evidence against Mrs .White and she was liberated.

White and Hill made an effort to secure bail here, but failed, and the deputy marshals left with them this afternoon for Savannah, where they will be placed in the Chatham county jail.

Subpena for Pierce.

St. Louis, March 6.—In compliance with the order of Special Commissioner Anthony, Attorney General Hadley today issued a subpena for H. Clay Pierce, former president of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company, now in New York, and for Charles H. Adams, secretary of the company, commanding them to appear in St. Louis and testify in the oil hearing, which is set for March 19. The subpenas are not binding outside of the state of Missouri.

Fitzgerald Residence Burned.

Fitzgerald, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—The building occupied by the store and residence of N. H. Hester, groceryman, was discovered in flames at 6:30 this morning. The roof and part of the interior was burned, and goods damaged by smoke and water.

SURPRISE SPRUNG BY TELEGRAPHER

Improved Form Caused Action by Stewards.

Owner Mallory Was Called Into Stand for Investigation, but No Decision Was Taken Because of Absence of Witness.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 6.—Telegrapher was the surprise and Bull Finch the disappointment at Oaklawn today. The improved race of Telegrapher caused Judge Bryan to call owner W. H. Mallory into the stand for an investigation. No action was taken today, as one of the principal witnesses needed could not be located.

Duchess Ollie, Convolo and Bitter Hand were the winning favorites. W. G. Williams was played by all the wise betters, and his victory caused the books to be hit hard.

Jockey Dennison carried off the honors of the day. Summary:

FIRST RACE—Five and one-half furlongs: Duchess Ollie, 104 (Helgerson), 13 to 5, won; Dresden, 104 (Cherry), 9 to 2, second; Young Sater, 104 (McIntyre), 9 to 2, third. Time 1:09 2-5. Moorhen, Arco Spring, Dancing Nun, Bill Holt, Lady Waddell, Brimfull, McJetta, Joe Graham, Miss Cider and Fugitive ran.

THREE PLAYERS HOLD PRACTICE

"Just Like Picking Cherries," Says Billy Smith.

"Just like picking cherries," said Manager Billy Smith yesterday afternoon after a hard practice at Piedmont Park, the first of the season.

"I am surely feeling fine and the man who beats me out for an outfield position will have to bat about .500 and field without error, for I am in the shape of my life."

"Never saw him look better," said Business Manager Ethridge. "Why he has his Macon form beaten from the start, and he could hit and field some down there."

The first practice of the season was held yesterday afternoon at Piedmont. Billy Smith, Bugs Raymond and Ison were the three ball players to enjoy the pleasure of working out on a beautiful afternoon, which tomorrow will be followed by all the stiffness and the aches that comes of the loosening up process.

"That kid, Ison sure looks good to me," is the way Billy Smith put it, after watching the Macon recruit do stunts for a half hour or more. "I think that he will make Lipe a valuable man, and we may be drafting him by next season."

News of Firecrackers.

Manager Smith is still in the air on the Gettig case. He offered the star third baseman of the Scranton club to Troy in the same league in exchange for a pitcher, but to date he has heard nothing from the New Yorkers. The chances are that Gettig will be released outright.

A deal was completed yesterday morning by which the colt battery of the local team, Collins and Dunne, was transferred to the Columbia team in the South Atlantic League.

Joe Rickert has at last decided that playing ball at $200 a month is a better job than digging locations for gas pipes, and has written for a ticket calling for transportation to Atlanta.

Pleiss, the will of the wisp, who has been signing contracts by the score for Atlanta and then failing to report, has signed another time. A ticket has been mailed him and it is believed that this time he will come.

This Pleiss matter has its humorous side. He was secured from Galveston in the Texas League in 1903, but did not like the southern climate and kangarooed to the outlaws where he has played on a number of clubs, Lebanon being the first.

Last year he dallied with the Atlanta club for a while, raised false hopes and then said "Nay, nay, the outlaws for mine for a little longer."

So when at last the message came to Billy that he was willing to come, Atlanta officials said bring him on. Chief Joyner stated that he would pay his transportation south, just to get a look at him and be sure that it was a real man he had been dealing with for so long, but had always failed to land.

Want Jordan Earlier.

Manager Smith has received a letter from Jordan stating that he will not report before April 10. Billy does not quite like the idea of being without his services for so long a time and intends to send a letter to Otto, saying "Come sooner." It will be up to the ex-Brooklynite, but it is believed that he will break the ties that bind him to Milledgeville, to connect himself with the Piedmont Park squad.

Larry Lajoie, manager of the Clevelanders, and also author of a book on baseball rules, baseball jokes and averages, has also sent a letter to local headquarters, stating that he wants to put his book on sale here. He will be informed who has the privileges of the park.

UNDERTONE FIRM IN COTTON MARKET

Prices Worked Into New High Ground For Movement

Big Spot Demand Is the Chief Influence—The Market Was Moderately Active with the Close 8 to 15 Points Higher.

New York, March 6.—The cotton market was moderately active with the undertone firm and prices working into new high ground for the upward movement. The close was 8 to 15 points net higher. Sales were estimated at 250,000 bales. The opening was firm at an advance of 7 to 10 points in response to the firmer cables and the continued big spot business in the English market. The early weather map showed generally favorable conditions in the south, estimates for tomorrow receipts were full, and the room trade was bearish, selling prices off soon after the opening. But there was good support four or five points down from the initial figures and the market rallied during the middle session on reports that rains were delaying crop preparations in Texas, the forecast calling for more general rains in the south tonight or tomorrow and continued reports of a big spot demand. May sold up to 10.86 and July to 10.97 during the afternoon, but reacted three or four points toward the close under realizing. The tone was steady. One of the features of the day was the narrowing of the July premium as compared with May, and the strength of near positions was said to be due to further sales, or contemplated sales, out of the local stocks for export.

New Orleans Cotton Market.

New Orleans, March 6.—Spot cotton active, firm and a shade higher; sales 7,000 bales including 1,600 to arrive. Quotations advanced 1-16c; middling 10 13-16c.

Futures, influenced by better Liverpool, opened 8 points higher than last evening's close. The market, however, was extremely dull, and only the strength of Liverpool cables enabled the bulls to send prices up 6 to 8 points above the opening before the session ended. The market closed quiet with net gains of 16 to 18 points, on all positions from March to August inclusive. October and December gained 10 points each.

The Dry Goods Market.

New York, March 6.—Spring business in the dry goods market is proceeding satisfactory to the jobbers, returns from the west being particularly encouraging. Leading Chicago houses report a season considerably in advance of the similar three months' period of 1905, which was in itself a record breaker. Conditions among first hands are also satisfactory, although quieter than for some weeks past. Bleached goods are regarded as weak in some quarters, but print cloths and prints are being held very firmly. Denims and fine yarn goods are sold for weeks ahead.

The Liverpool Cotton Market.

Liverpool, March 6, 12:15 p. m.—Cotton, spot, demand fair with prices steady; middling uplands 5.89; sales 12,000 bales; speculation and export 1,000; receipts 19,000; American 7,200.

Futures opened steady.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, March 6.—COTTON—Advices from Liverpool were disappointing this morning, but the local trade is more bullish, the buying of May creating an uneasiness for zealous sellers. This is practically the only feature of the day. General business is very light, port receipts are on a liberal scale and the falling off will probably be of slight effect other than to verify the general belief. The advance is due to the persistence of prices at the present level which, though lighter, have made converts who are in the majority.

Gibert & Clay.

New Orleans, March 6.—COTTON—The idea was very generally entertained in the foreign market that the liquidation which had been the feature of the preceding day's session had run its course. The report seemed to be confirmed by the steady advance of prices today, options gaining 6 points from the lower opening and closed 3 over yesterday's levels. Spot sales 12,000 bales at 1 point decline. The trading in the local market was of no especial significance, being chiefly to ring scalping. The advanced opening caused some scattered selling on the part of such operators, but all offerings were readily absorbed and the market steadily strengthened its position. The upward tendency of Liverpool likewise had its sympathetic effect on the undertone. While the spot market shows no material improvement, in so far as the class of offerings is concerned, nevertheless the business done today has been comparatively large. The demand for high grades continues unabated, but the exporter finds himself confronted with the difficulty of fulfilling his up-grade engagements. The most noteworthy fact about today's improvement in prices was the propensity displayed by the market in bulling itself. Left alone and running on their own merits, the future positions slowly but steadily rose in values. The weather map was in reality better than yesterday's predictions justified; receipts for the day estimated at some 33,000 bales are large, but not in comparison with last year's 50,000 for the same day. Today's clearances from this port are 26,000 bales and exports likewise are supposedly thought to be heavy.

Chicago, March 6.—WHEAT—The market has been held fairly steady most of the day by varying sets of influence. The higher cables and the fact that a great deal of wheat has been liquidated on the long decline had a firming tendency and official showing of a good blanket of snow over the drought section of the southwest, with rain in its southern part, tended to dampen any bullish ardor that might have appeared. There has nevertheless been quite a volume of business quietly transacted. Some eastern long wheat has been sold and some of the local shorts who covered yesterday put the wheat on sale again. The world's available supply figures were very bearish. There was a dull flour trade and the leading mills shut down and closed out its wheat on hand. We expect and hope to see a further rally in prices tomorrow.

CORN—The market has developed unexpected strength for the May delivery, but July has ruled lower. Elevator interests were changing their hedges over to the more distant month, thus narrowing the difference from 1-2c as at close yesterday to 1-8c at one time today. Country roads are very bad and current arrivals are expected to average low for the week. The increase in the available supply was more than double that of a year ago and of the official visible supply statement issued yesterday. Cash corn in sample market is in good demand and half cent higher.

OATS have been rather dull, but in the main have ranged firmer with corn. There has been some buying of May by cash and elevator firms and some selling of other months by local speculators. The trade as a whole has been of moderate volume. Cash demand here small, but the northwest was doing bettter.

New York, March 6.—STOCKS—Following the rally which began yesterday afternoon the market showed the effect of its recent liquidation by further steadiness rather impartially distributed throughout the active list today. A large part of the support appeared to result from covering orders, but sentiment was not any more favorable to the market as a result of easier money rates here. The class of buying was not believed to be of the best, though undoubtedly the effect of recent operations has been to make the distribution from the casual to a more permanent and perhaps stronger class of holders. Notwithstanding the better tone displayed during most of today's session, we are not prepared to believe a full change in sentiment has taken place in such directions as will lead to unrestricted support, nor we do not expect the full tide of business activities to prevail during the early spring at a time when crop preparations absorb so large a part of the country's attention. It is fair to expect a steadier market; we hardly expect more in the near future.

Ware & Leland.

New York, March 6.—COTTON—There was quite an active market at advancing prices with short covering after the early price, failed to change materially, and the undertone of the market was firmer than for several days. The buying carried the July to higher prices than any recorded last week and this led to short covering on stop orders with trading fairly active, though the general demand was not such as to encourage liberal buying. For some time there has been an active demand for spot cotton, and it looks now as though the cotton for sale at these figures had been taken off the market and it will require an advance in spots to bring out more cotton. The movement, on the other hand, when compared with two years ago, is very liberal and in the event of 11c for July, there will be a tendency to increase acreage to such an extent that this will become an active market factor later on. One of the reports of the day was the rumored sale of large block spot cotton, held by the Hoadley interests and this did much to bring in the short interest. Liverpool prices were firm and that market continues to be very steady as was New Orleans throughout the greater portion of the day.

Chicago, March 6.—WHEAT—Sentiment in wheat among many of the large traders had changed to the bull side for an advance this morning and this was helped considerably by the situation abroad, when cables were advanced slightly and buying orders from that quarter were reported. Large shorts have been active on the buying side and have taken advantage of this decline for the past few days. The bull side seems to us to be the better.

CORN—There has been an active demand for corn today, principally amongst local operators, although a good cash inquiry was noted early. Selling on the part of pit traders was met by buying on the part of several very prominent leaders who, noting the strength in wheat, tried to cover. Speculative sentiment has been too bearish of late, a rally was in order and look for further advance in this cereal.

New York, March 6.—STOCKS—The stock market duly recovered today from the vigorous decline of yesterday. It was oversold on Monday's trading and miscellaneous shorts were covering today in all departments. The rally was about as it should be. Will it hold is the question. We are not inclined at this time to expect permanent recovery on account of the money market chiefly. But this, of course, does not prevent specialty advances, while, on the other hand, drives at specialties are also likely so long as the unsettlement continues. We believe in maintaining the trading position, watching carefully the individual positions as reflected from technical considerations. We cannot see our way clear to advise other than purchases on declines low-priced stocks whose earning power is heavy. Patient holders will be well regarded by maintaining the conservative bull stand in this class of issues. It is probable that high-priced stocks will have their turn at specialty depression, like Reading, Copper, etc., perhaps not in so great a degree, but still the shake-out process is necessary to make the entire market compact, and as the existence of a big short interest is desirable prior to any plans for a big advance, it is highly probable that operations will be conducted along the lines of fostering an irregular market with raids here and there.

CASH DEMAND WAS GOOD IN THE WEST

Main Factor for Rally in May Wheat Late.

Showed an Advance of 1-2c at the Close, with the Tone Strong. Advance in Cash Corn Closed That Cereal Quite Strong.

Chicago, March 6.—Active covering by shorts who were forced to cover by the strong condition of the cash wheat market caused a firm close in the local wheat market here today; final quotations on May being up 1-2c. Corn showed a gain of 5-8c. Oats were up 1-8c. Provisions were 2 1-2@5c lower.

The market was unsettled during the first half of the session and prices were easily forced up or down. During the last hour, however, sentiment became bullish and the market closed strong with prices at the highest of the day. Commission houses bought freely all day and later in the day the demand was increased by free covering by shorts. The bulk of the offerings came from pit traders who were bearishly inclined because of the favorable weather for the fall sown crop in the southwest. Poor demand for flour was again a prominent factor tending to weaken values. A report was received from East St. Louis that a mill in that place, said to be one of the largest in the southwest, had been compelled to close because of lack of business. This was offset, however, by reports of a strong demand for cash wheat in the southwest and northwest, but beyond this there was little news of a strictly bullish import. The improved demand was generally ascribed to an over-sold condition of the market. May opened a shade lower to a shade higher at 78 3-8@78 1-2c, ranged between 78 1-4@79c and closed at 78 7-8@79c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 73,000 bushels. The world's visible supply, as shown by Bradstreet's, increased 4,000,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 432,000 bushels, compared with 405,000 a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 349 cars, against 536 cars last week and 284 cars a year ago.

The feature of trading in corn was the active demand for the May delivery by a number of prominent bulls. Shorts also covered freely and the result was a sharp advance in the price of the option. The buying was stimulated by reports of wet weather and an improved demand for cash corn. The market closed strong with prices at the highest point. May opened a shade to 1-8c higher at 43 5-8@43 3-4c, the closing price. Local receipts 355 cars with 11 of contract grade.

A decrease of 1,651,000 bushels in the world's visible supply, as shown by Bradstreet's, was chiefly responsible for a firm tone in oats. Reports of reviving export demand also favored higher prices. May opened unchanged to 30 1-8, sold between 30@30 1-4c and closed at 30 1-4c. Local receipts 230 cars.

A decline in the price of live hogs, notwithstanding small receipts, caused some weakness in provisions. Commission houses caused a fair rally in pork by fair purchases. At the close May pork was up 2 1-2c at $15.72 1-2. Lard was down 2 1-2c at $7.85. Ribs closed at $8.30.

R. Siedenburg & Co.

New York, March 6.—COTTON—Liverpool at 3 points higher was better than expected and there was evidence of continued demand for spots in the foreign markets; private cables were also very firm in tone. Our market opened at 7 to 10 points advance and there was considerable buying for foreign accounts, as well as by some of the local professionals, but sentiment soon became bearish. Trading throughout the morning was quiet and prices eased off 4 to 5 points. About noon, however, the market displayed some strength but on favorable news respecting the Moroccan situation, eased off again. Report of a spot deal involving 30,000 bales had taken place in the local market added renewed interest and caused an advance to the opening prices. Port and interior receipts continue large and the weather through the cotton belt, favorable. The weather map showed slight rains in the western belt this morning, but generally clear east of the Mississippi. Liverpool is due 3 to 4 higher in the morning.

The Metal Market.

New York, March 6.—The London tin market was steady with spot unchanged and futures a shade higher at £162 5s. Locally quiet; spot 35.50@35 87 1-2.

Copper irregular abroad, closing 5s higher at £80 for spot and 5s lower for futures at £76. Locally no change reported.

Lead unchanged locally, but declined 2s 6d to £15 17s 6d in London.

Iron lower abroad; standard founrdy 47s 4d; Cleveland warrants 47s 4 1-2d. Locally no changes.

St. Louis, March 6.—Lead firm at $5.27 1-2. Spelter higher at $6.10@6.12 1-2.

Coffee and Sugar.

New York, March 6.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at a decline of 5@10 points in response to disappointing French cables. There was nothing in the Brazilian news to discourage holders, receipts remaining light and primary markets firming up as the rate of exchange declined, but there was no fresh demand for consequence and the market eased off under selling for the long account; closed steady at a net decline of 10@15 points; sales 68,250 bags, May at 7@7.05; July 7.20; September 7.35@7.45; December 7.60@7.65. Coffee, spot Rio steady; No. 7 invoice 8 7-16; mild quiet; Cordova 9 1-4@12 3-4.

Sugar, raw steady; fair refining 2 29-32@2 15-16; centrifugal 96-test 3 13-32@3 7-16; molasses sugar 2 21-23@2 11-16. Refined quiet.

New Orleans, March 6.—Sugar firm; open kettle centrifugal 3@3 5-8; centrifugal whites 3 3-4@4; yellows 3 3-8@3 11-16; seconds 2@3 1-16. Molasses, open kettle 17@30; centrifugal 7@20. Sirup nominal at 25@30.

BEST IN THE WORLD
THE WORLD'S GREATEST SHOEMAKER

ESTABLISHED 1876 CAPITAL $2,500,000

W. L. Douglas makes and sells more men's $3.50 shoes than any other manufacturer in the world. $10,000 REWARD will be paid to any one who can disprove this statement.

$3.50 ALL LEATHERS, ALL STYLES, ONE PRICE $3.50

If I could take you into my three large factories at Brockton, Mass., and show you the care with which every pair of shoes is made, you would understand why W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes are the best in the world, why they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater value than any other $3.50 shoe.

Comfort, Style and Wear — the Best.

"About a year ago I purchased from your Baltimore store a pair of $3.50 shoes. The style, comfort and wear of this shoe was the best I have ever had; in fact, so much so that I to-day purchased another pair. I cheerfully recommend your shoe to the public."
W. B. PETER, Ellicott City, Md.

BOYS SHOES, $2.00 & $1.75 Just the same as my men's $3.50 shoes, the same leathers, for $2.00 and $1.75.

CAUTION.—None genuine without W. L. Douglas name and price stamped on bottom. Take no substitute. Sold in W. L. Douglas exclusive shoe stores in the principal cities, and by the best shoe dealers everywhere.

Our Extraordinary Offer TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS!

By special arrangement with the publishers we are enabled to offer our subscribers a limited number of subscriptions to The Cosmopolitan Magazine, Review of Reviews, and Woman's Home Companion, at a very much reduced price:

	One Year Reg. Price
Cosmopolitan Magazine - -	$ 1.00
Review of Reviews - - - -	3.00
Woman's Home Companion - -	1.00
Daily and Sunday Constitution	7.00
Total, - - - - - - -	$12.00

We offer all of the above to out-of-town subscribers for $8.50

We offer all of the above to city subscribers for - - $7.50

The price of The Daily and Sunday Constitution, city delivery, is $6.00.

We are very fortunate in being able to arrange with the publishers of these three well-known magazines to offer a subscription for the coming year at this sensational price. We have decided to let our readers have the full advantage of the reduction. You ask how this offer is possible if three magazines have a fixed value and are not like the commodities usually offered at bargain prices.

THE EXPLANATION

It is well known to every one in business that in fixing a selling price there must be added to the manufacturing cost the cost of marketing. The cost of marketing a magazine is a big item, and these three publishing houses decided to unify their efforts to get new readers, making one organization do the work, and divide the cost of marketing by three. That is why this year you can buy three magazines that fit the needs of every home for half price.

Send Money With Order

This offer is only good for a short time. Act quickly, giving us immediate reply.

To Old Subscribers:

Old subscribers can take advantage of this offer by paying their bill up to date, and in addition, sending us check for $8.50. This will pay their subscription to The Daily and Sunday Constitution in advance for one year and they will get these three magazines. If you have already paid in advance, then send $8.50 (or $7.50 if you live in Atlanta) and we will mark your date up one year, from date you have paid to, and send you the three magazines.

SOME GAINS WERE SHOWN AT START

General Tendency Was Toward a Lower Level.

Effective Buying Later Turned the Tone Strong and the Advance Was Steady Most of the Late Session, with the Closing Dull.

New York, March 6.—The day's market gave unmistakable evidence of relief from the pressure of the urgent and forced liquidation which upset prices yesterday. A desutory recovery was the consequence, in which covering of short contracts by professional operators on the bear side of the market played a large part. The latter stages of the market, however, showed a striking disinlination to follow the recovery by any large commitments on the long side. The advancing tendency was spotty and irregular and did not set in until after a ragged opening in which the majority of the active list sold lower than last night's closing. Besides the prominence of yesterday's weakest stocks in the recovery there was a show of positive strength in the Wabash securities and those of southwestern railroads in the same group. Some of the other cotton carriers also sympathized in the movement. A strong market for copper in London helped Amalgamated Copper here. The assembling of the coal operators to consider the proposition of the anthracite miners for an agreement gave rise to varying rumors which were reflected in the fluctuations in Reading. Today's money rates were not materially changed, although the general tone begins to show the benefit of the liquidation accomplished in the stock market. The sagging tendency of stocks at one time wiped out pretty much all of the gains, but a heavy buying movement in Southern Railway in the final dealings reestablished some portion of them and left the closing tone steady.

BEST SYSTEM TO HEAT HOUSES

Englehart & Hitchcock Among the Leaders In This Work.

The question of a proper and intelligent heating system is one of supreme importance in the construction of every modern building, whether it be designed for home or business.

The builder, for lack of former experience, may not so consider it when he is counting original cost, but if he happens to make a mistake he will most willingly acknowledge it before the lapse of many years, perhaps only months.

The subject of heating includes the three important items of comfort, convenience and economy, and the man who puts his money in a building either for his personal use or as an investment knows, or will soon learn, that if he makes a mistake in either one of these particulars that he will sooner or later have some disagreeable and expensive overhauling and replacing to do.

A proper appreciation of these facts and a thorough knowledge of the heating business in all its details has enabled the well known firm of Hitchcock & Englehart, of this city, to extend their rapidly growing operations throughout the entire South Atlantic states. Messrs. Hitchcok & Englehart are practical steam heating engineers and contractors of almost lifelong experience and in all their contracts, great or small, they use nothing but the best material manufactured. Or to put it in another form, being practical men of long and successful experience, they use nothing but the best boilers, radiators, valves, etc., that are made for steam plant purposes. Their system, experience and material being unsurpassed, they have made the record of installing more steam and hot water heating plants in Atlanta and surrounding section within th epast three years that had even been established in the same territory before.

Hitchcock & Englehart are now replacing the old steam heating system in the handsome Peachtree street home of Mr. S. M. Inman, with a modern hot water plant. The firm has also received the contract for installing a heating plant in the new building being erected by Mr. Inman on his Mitchell street property, near the terminal station.

The firm of Hitchcock & Englehart are installing their heating plants in the Loveman office building, Chattanooga, Tenn.; the Agnes Scott Institute at Decatur, and many other of the most carefully planned and equipped structures in this section.

In speaking of the heating system used by the firm, yesterday, Mr. J. G. Englehart said:

"It is not entirely a new system in the south, as it has been in use here in this city in a way for eighteen or twenty years, but it was left to our firm to prove its value and superiority by practical tests. Several of the best homes in Atlanta were equipped with steam and hot water heating plants several years ago by firms in Cincinnati and elsewhere away from home, but there was no one here to regulate and care for them as there should have been, and they did not give the service and satisfaction that they would have otherwise. We consider that we have the best heating system, and install the best plants in existence, and those for whom we have installed plants back our judgment. We are all practical men, I, myself having devoted eighteen years to this line as a specialty, and, therefore, what we do is well done and proves its worth in every instance." ***

STEEL MILL FOR BIRMINGHAM.

Sloss-Sheffield Company May Erect Large Plant.

Birmingham, Ala., March 6.—It was announced today that a meeting of the board of directors of the Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Iron Company will be held in New York next Monday at which time President J. C. Maben will present means for the erection by the company of a large steel mill in this district, the directors having some time ago ordered the preparation of such plans. President Maben will also make his annual report which will show earnings amounting to $1,415,079 and a balance of $1,205,079 after interest charges have been paid. The report will also show the addition of $361,079 to the surplus of the company, making the latter fund something like $2,500,000. It is said that if the company decides to build a large steel plant it is prepared to do so without the further issue of bonds. The annual stockholders' meeting will be held in Jersey City, Wednesday next.

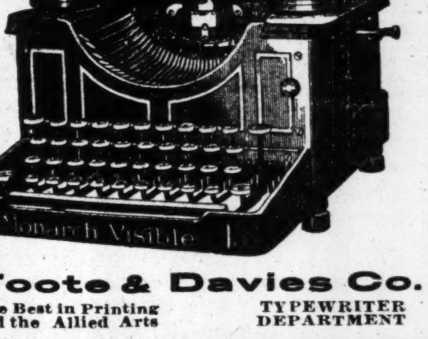
The Monarch Visible Typewriter



The typebar flies back to its place after the stroke "like lightning." The escapement is quick and uniform. The paper feed is sure and regular. The ribbon moves endwise and crosswise; it mechanically reverses when either end is reached. The lever that spaces the lines moves in the same direction that the carriage takes in return—in other words, the operator spaces and returns the carriage by one movement and one operation. The carriage is released by levers at either the right or left hand—in other words, the Monarch has two release levers. By the marginal release, the carriage may be driven over the marginal stops. The action is light and adjustable and the adjustment is easily effected by the operator himself.

Guests of Spring Hill Hotel Have Narrow Escape.

Mobile, Ala., March 6.—At 2 o'clock this morning, fire of accidental origin destroyed the Spring Hill hotel, a winter resort 7 miles west of Mobile. The hotel was filled with guests from northern cities and they had narrow escapes, leaving their effects, including jewelry and diamonds to a large amount in their rooms. Damage is between $50,000 and $60,000, with insurance. The flames were discovered by Miss Lena Gazzam, who aroused every inmate of the burning building and saved their lives. Mrs. F. E. Braiden, of Chicago, was one of the guests, who escaped. She became prostrated and has since lost her reason through the fright she experienced.

COMPANY NOT IN MERGER.

Maben Believes Sloss-Sheffield Will Remain Independent.

Birmingham, Ala., March 6.—J. C. Maben, president of the Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Iron Company, today gave out this statement regarding the story that his company is to be included in the reported general merger of southern steel and iron interests with the United States Steel Corporation:

"There is absolutely no indication that a control of the Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Iron Company has changed hands, nor do I apprehend any in the near future. I can hardly believe that the United States Steel Corporation will make an effort to get the Sloss-Sheffield Company through John W. Gates.

"There are no indications that the merger will take in our company as no general change in the ownership of the stock has taken place."

Court Can't Grant New Trial.

Trenton, N. J., March 6.—The supreme court today decided that Justice Garretson has no authority to grant the motion for a new trial for Mrs. Antoinette Tolla, now under sentence of death, in Bergen county. The supreme court holds that the power to grant a new trial does not rest in a trial judge beyond the term in which the conviction occurs.

Irwin Superior Court.

Fitzgerald, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—Irwin county superior court convenes today with Judge Martin presiding. There are a dozen legal lights in attendance, and a long docket to be ground out. A few criminal cases, including the Harper and Hendley murder charges, will be considered, and there is promise of a tedious session. Two or three divorces and one or two state cases will make interesting "listening" for the usual crowd of court house hangers-on.

Dowieite Patient Dead.

Chicago, March 6.—Mrs. Anna H. Turner, a convert of Alexander Dowie, and who was attended after several days of acute suffering by a physician under the orders of the city board of health, died today. Attention was called to the case by neighbors, who declared that her moans could be heard in the street, but that her husband refused to call a physician because such action is forbidden by the faith of the Dowieites.
